Ranch Price Record

WILLIAMS LAKE (CP)—The famed 1,000,000-acre Chilco Ranch in the heart of British Columbia's interior Chilcotin country has been sold for $2,000,000 cash, believed a record price in Canadian ranching transactions.

President John Wade of the Cariboo Land and Cattle Company, owner of the big spread, said yesterday the ranch, its more than 5,000 head of Hereford cattle and other assets, were purchased by John Minor of Abbey, Sask., and William Gilchrist of Maple Creek, Sask.

BENNETT, KENNEDY DISCUSS POWER AT SECRET SESSION

Congo Crime Horrifies UN

(From Reuters, UPI, CP)

Let NATO Push Button

BONN (UPI)—NATO forces must have the ability to use nuclear weapons without waiting for an order from the American president, Chancellor Adenauer said last night.

He said the change was necessary "purely for military reasons, not on political or prestige grounds."

Horror and indignation swept the United Nations yesterday as swift punitive measures were promised against the "bestial" Congolese mutineers who massacred and hacked the bodies of 13 Italian UN airmen on a mercy mission.

Italy reacted with anger and mourned its loss.

The UN reported that Congolese army mutineers shot the Italians, dismembered some of the bodies before a jeering, white-hating crowd and threw them into a river.

The airmen were massacred Saturday after they flew in with a cargo of scout cars for a garrison of 200 Malayan UN troops besieged by the mutinuous central government troops.

Italian sources said parts of the bodies of the murdered men were reported to have been sold on the market at Kindu.

UN sources said a group of Congolese soldiers visited a World Health Organization doctor and placed parts of a human hand on his desk saying: "This is what happened."

'Must Be Punished'

Premier Cyrille Adoula of the central government in a radio speech Thursday night declared "the guilty must be punished with utmost severity" but made no direct reference to UN plans for punishment.

He called for discipline among Congolese soldiers and expressed disgust at the killings.

The Congo troops came from Stanleyville, capital of Orient province and stronghold of Antoine Gizenga, estranged vice-premier of the central government. Western diplomatic sources believed the mutiny at Kindu was a last desperate effort by Gizenga to establish his control in Kivu province.

It appeared that neither Gizenga, Premier Adoula nor President Moise Tshombe of Katanga province could control their own forces. The reported soldiers were drunk most of the time and rebellious against all authority.

Italian Nation Shocked

In Rome, Italians reacted with horror, sorrow and anger to the news of the massacre.

The Vatican joined the mourning nation in expressing shock.

Premier Amintore Fanfani ordered his ambassador in Leopoldville to express Italy's "indignation" to the Congolese government and to demand the punishment of those responsible.

The order came after both houses of Parliament stood in silence to honor the airmen who, Fanfani said, were "massacred with bestiality while carrying out their humanitarian duty."

But the Communist-line Paese Sera, in its dispatch, said the slayings were carried out "by error" since the Congolese soldiers mistook the Italians for Belgians.

In New York, Acting Secretary General Thant pledged that the UN would take all possible measures to punish the mutinous troops.

Conor Cruise O'Brien, top UN official in Katanga province, and Gen. Sean McKeown flew to New York yesterday to report in person on the growing crisis.

Thant denounced the slayings as an outrageous crime. He demands for swift retribution come in advance of another Security Council meeting on the critical situation in the Congo.

Curb on Inferior Babies Urged

VANCOUVER (CP)—A Victoria heart specialist said Thursday that in some cases hopelessly ill persons should be allowed to die, and there should be studies aimed at bringing more healthy children into the world.

Dr. Peter Banks, medical chief at St. Joseph's Hospital, said in an interview some doctors question the practice of going to extremes to prolong the life of a patient who cannot recover and who is in constant pain.

He also suggested research into genetics to see if it would be possible to determine which prospective parents would give birth to healthy, intelligent children.

Healthy and intelligent parents would receive a reward on the birth of a child. Unhealthy parents would receive no reward.

Genetics is the study of inheritance of one's characteristics.

Dr. Banks was expanding on a speech he made earlier to the joint annual meeting here of the National Heart Foundation and the Canadian Heart Association.

In the speech, he spoke against national health plans as now envisioned, and against the philosophy of leaving patients to carry the load of all medical expenses.

He also mentioned the "intelligent acceptance of death as the end of life."

He said that correct philosophies say that "Thou shalt not kill or take life." But he said there comes a time, particularly in some cases involving arteries, when "a man has no brain."

"He is just a human preparation in pain—most of him is dead."

He said the arteries of the brain have burst, wrecking the brain, and it is obvious the man is going to die.

What, he asked, is the use of going to extreme measures to prolong life?

He said society is slowly strangling itself because babies are capable of inheriting their parents' illnesses. These children would produce children who would carry on the illness, increasing the proportion of the population suffering from it.

This applied to the children of some diabetics and some sufferers of mental illness.

"Are we as a race prepared to accept that in time we will all have a diabetic trace in our bloodstream?" he asked. "I don't think so."

Research might find a way of stopping the passing of illness on to children. Or it might find a way of saying which prospective parents would pass on their illness.

He envisioned a time some hundreds of years hence when a national disaster would take a fantastic toll of life because it had resulted in half the population being deprived of medication needed to stay alive.

Dr. Banks also said there is a four-per-cent increase in the cost of arterial disease treatment yearly and that in the next 10 years there will be a cost explosion.

Premier Wins Ovation

By PETER BRUTON
Colonist Staff Reporter

SEATTLE—Premier Bennett and U.S. President John Kennedy in a secret meeting here last night got down to hard cases on the stalled Columbia River development plan.

The talk was an astonishing reversal of a policy statement 24 hours earlier in which the premier said he would not talk Columbia to Kennedy because it would be a case of a provincial representative dealing in an international affair.

The secret meeting is reported to have lasted about a quarter of an hour in the president's private suite in the Olympic Hotel.

WOULDN'T CONFIRM

Later in the evening Premier Bennett would neither confirm nor deny that the meeting took place.

The talk between British Columbia's acknowledged master of political intrigue and the young U.S. president came after Premier Bennett got the "red carpet" treatment at a $100-a-plate testimonial dinner in honor of veteran Washington Senator Warren Magnuson.

Speculation that a top-level power meeting might take place later in the evening began when reporters realized the B.C. premier had been seated with President Kennedy, Senator Magnuson and high Democratic party officials at the 20-seat head table.

STANDING OVATION

The premier at one point got a standing ovation from President Kennedy and the rest of the Senate majority leader, praised him for doing Magnuson a great honor by attending the dinner.

A Canada-U.S. treaty for Columbia development was worked out by Ottawa and Washington months ago but has been stalled for lack of ratification by B.C.

SELL POWER BACK

Premier Bennett wants to sell the bloc of power attributable to B.C. under terms of the treaty in the U.S. at a price of five mills per kilowatt hour.

Ottawa so far has adhered to its long-standing policy of forbidding power export, and the U.S. has not agreed to the five-mill price.

The premier has said the sale of the U.S.-generated power belonging to B.C. does not constitute export and has pointed out that the price of five mills is a reasonable one in view of the fact that development of the Columbia in B.C. guarantees the U.S. a like amount of power at little or no cost because of the controlled flow to existing generators.

Hostile Neutrals Get Warning

SEATTLE, Wash. (UPI)—President Kennedy in a sombre appraisal of East-West differences last night warned "hostile" neutrals of the world that the United States intended to exercise its responsibilities of power in a new test of "national maturity."

"We must face up to the chance of war if we are to maintain the peace," Kennedy said.

PASSAGE DROPPED

In actual delivery, however, this passage was dropped and he spoke of neutral nations genuinely friendly with the United States as compared with other so-called neutral countries which in actuality are "openly hostile" to the Western powers.

EXTREMISTS HIT

The chief executive spoke to an academic ceremonial marking the 100th anniversary of the University of Washington.

Kennedy used the speech, first of a western tour, to mount a new attack on U.S. extremists who view current tensions with the Soviet Union as leading inevitably to all-or-nothing conclusions—appeasement or war, suicide or surrender.

The chief executive said such extremists did a major disservice to the country. Americans instead of being thus terred by extremist polemics, should realize that a "long twilight struggle" lies ahead with honorable negotiations of international differences offering the only practicable pathway to peace.

Casting "warmongers" and "appeasers" from the temple of U.S. foreign policy, the president said of most of his countrymen: "We are Americans determined to defend the frontiers of freedom by an honorable peace if peace is possible, but by arms if arms are used against us."

WOODED BY REDS

The statement of determination to prevent certain countries from adopting neutrality in his prepared text appeared to be a reference to nations of Southeast Asia and Latin America which have been pressured and wooed recently by the Communist bloc.

His remark about preventing other nations from abandoning their present neutrality seemed to some to have been possible reference to areas of Scandinavia, Afghanistan and possibly Iran.

ALL ABOARD

With G. E. Mortimore

THE high-pressure magazine salesman are with us again.

These laughing vagabonds bluff their way through the door in the guise of immigrants learning English, or poor boys competing for a university scholarship.

They say nothing about money or magazines, but prattle on about the funny things that happened when they were hitch-hiking across Canada, and their hopes of becoming doctors or dentists—with your help.

"How can I help?" you ask—fool that you are. You don't have to do a thing, the lad says. All he wants is a few minutes of your time. He hasn't been in Canada very long, and his sponsors want him to try out his English on strangers.

In other instances he is an embryo business executive, sharpening his wits by conversation, or a medical student practising his bedside manner. Basically, it's all the same pitch. Oh, yes, the boy adds as an afterthought—there is another way you can help, if you feel inclined.

At this point in the dialogue, his youthful, carefree smile fades to a cold, rocky stare. He goes into a salesman's crouch, and whips out a list of magazines with the speed of Billy the Kid drawing his Colt.

He still hasn't spoken about money. The magazines are valued in points. One thousand points win him a university scholarship; and he has gathered 800 points so far.

Won't you help him get those last few points, so that he can go to college and be a doctor?

All you have to do is sign here, and of course there are some minor expenses. You surely wouldn't mind paying seven cents a week for a small magazine that's put out to help the students?

Just sign here. Yes, it's a national magazine. In fact you can help the lad by getting subscriptions to several national magazines. One hundred points for this one, 200 points for another.

All right, seven cents a week—or a day—or 19 cents a month—it doesn't sound like much. I suppose I pay it when the magazine arrives? Well, uh, not exactly. There is a small charge of $17.96 to pay now, and there won't be another thing to worry about until next year, when another token payment of $14.79 falls due.

If you have fallen for this line of patter and signed the contract, the lad is already looking at his watch. Before the ink is dry he will be out the door and away in pursuit of fresh prey.

If he is on the level, and his colorfully-engraved magazine-salesman's bond certificate is genuine, the magazines will arrive in the mail, all right.

However, don't look for your visitor on the campus, if you happen to be visiting a university. You're not likely to find him.

And if you let your payments fall behind—wow! Bill-collectors' dunning letters will come at you from every angle. With their amary words and their veiled threats of legal action, they are a long way in tone from the happy-go-lucky salesman gave you in selling the merchandise.

In defence of the salesman, one might say that they have a difficult job to do. If they announced right away that they were selling magazines, nobody would let them in the door. Therefore they have to use deceit.

Magazines need circulation, and although they don't like these methods themselves, they can't say "no" to an agency that can deliver many thousands of paid subscribers.

The trouble about the system is that it tricks old, vague and poor people into buying goods that they don't need and cannot afford. It leads to much misery when the bill collectors' letters arrive.

Sometimes I think there ought to be a law against this kind of approach.

Diet Could Save You

Experts Link Heart Attacks with Fatty Foods

VANCOUVER (CP)—Now don't go rushing to your doctor for a diet—but indications are that there is a relationship between some of the food you eat and the possibility of your getting a stroke or heart attack.

Doctors at the annual meeting of the National Heart Foundation and the Canadian Heart Foundation said Thursday that dietary management could prevent some cases of hardening of the arteries.

But much research is needed to show what the management should be and how many cases it should help.

The doctors said the vast majority of thrombosis cases are preceded by hardening of the arteries—called atherosclerosis.

Thrombosis is a clotting of the blood that stops it from flowing to the heart, causing a heart attack.

Dr. J. Fraser Mustard, who works at the University of Toronto, and Dr. Paris Constantides, researcher at the University of British Columbia, said experiments indicate a reduction in the consumption of some fats can prevent some cases of hardening of the arteries.

It had been shown that excessive fats in the blood are one of three causes of the hardening, a growth on the walls of the arteries. The other causes were high blood pressure and damage to the artery wall.

Dr. Mustard said a diet reducing these fats could lower the chances of arterial hardening.

It was thought that diets would only be effective if started at a comparatively early age. Now, he said, research indicates that it would be effective at any age.

He said the federal government had a national medical care plan in mind when it appointed a royal commission to study the situation. Future action would depend on the commission's report.

Support for Health Plan By Doctors Predicted

SASKATOON (CP)—Federal Health Minister J. Walter G. Duggan said Thursday he is confident that the medical profession would co-operate in any medical-care plan advanced by the current federal government.

He said he would never recommend anything in a medical-care plan that would be detrimental to doctor-patient relationships.

He said the federal government had a national medical care plan in mind when it appointed a royal commission to study the situation. Future action would depend on the commission's report.

Have Lump Checked It May Be Cancer

By JOSEPH MOLNER, MD

Dear Dr. Molner: I have what feels like a pea-sized lump on the side of my neck. It feels hard and can be moved easily by certain movements of my arm. Also the lump seems a little tender. The description does not fit my notion of lumps pertaining to cancer, but I don't really know what to look for and there's a history of cancer in my family.—Mrs. L. L.

The thing to do, and at once, is to see your doctor and let him decide what it is.

Not every lump is cancer—not by a wide, wide margin. But every such lump ought to be examined. Your idea of what kind of lump pertains to cancer and your doctor's idea can be very different, and there isn't any way in the world to tell people how to look just for "lumps that are cancer."

FIND THE LUMP
All you can do is find the lump and let your doctor decide whether it is something or nothing. Cysts, small skin tumors and various other oddments can cause lumps.

Some lumps, once identified as innocent, can be ignored. Others, while not cancer, may indicate that sooner or later treatment may be advisable. The occasional ones that are cancer require treatment as fast as possible.

There isn't any particular place to look, nor any special size—except the smaller, the better. Some areas of the breast have more cancer than others, but a cancer in a less-usual place is cancer just the same.

Dear Dr. Molner: The ears of my two-year-old son are badly cupped. Could plastic surgery correct this? How much would it cost? Would he have to be hospitalized and how long?—Mrs. S. V.

It is probable plastic surgery could correct this but it may be too early to try to decide whether it should be done. You will have to discuss cost with the surgeon who can gauge the amount of work to be done. Hospitalization would probably be brief.

Dear Dr. Molner: I have always used deodorant, but several days ago a friend told me a doctor advised her that women should never use it because it would stop up glands. Is there any truth in that?—E. L. S.

No, no truth to it. Note to C. D. M.: "Eczema," when you get down to brass tacks, is a vague term that comes pretty close to meaning

"a rash." And there are so many causes of the skin breaking out that you just can't generalize. You have to examine each case on its own merits.

Anti-French Storm Hits Muslim World

PARIS (UPI)—Demonstrations and strikers spread through the Moslem world yesterday to protest France's detention of Algerian rebel vice-premier Mohammed Ben Bella, now in the 15th day of a hunger strike.

The green and white rebel flag was raised in Jordan, Lebanon, Iraq and Morocco in the series of protests. Demonstrations also attacked French policy in Algeria and called for new independence talks.

WATER-ONLY DIET

Interior Minister Reda Guedra of Morocco said the Arab League has called a day of solidarity for Ben Bella, who has subsisted on a water-only diet since Nov. 2 in an attempt to win a change to the status of political prisoners for himself and 5,000 other Algerians held in France.

KING TAKES LEAD

There were indications that the 44-year-old rebel leader's strike, begun in his Lohr Chateau prison and continued in a suburban Paris hospital, could grow into a solid campaign of the Arab nations against France.

These actions took place yesterday in support of the rebel demands:

MOSCOW: A mob of 1,000 African students, with a sprinkling of Russians, stoned the French embassy, hurled ink and milk bottles against its walls and demanded freedom for Ben Bella.

ALGERIA: Moslem shopkeepers in Bone went on strike. Air France pilot Jean Dorian was shot and killed by terrorists in Algiers.

PARIS: Police dispersed a crowd of about 2,000 French students marching near the Sorbonne University demanding release of the Moslem prisoners and peace in Algeria.

BEIRUT: More than 10,000 students staged a pro-Algeria demonstration. Police set up barriers around the French embassy.

BAGHDAD: Iraqis observed a one-hour work stoppage and 200 students went on a 24-hour hunger strike.

Beria Pulled Gun on Nikita

WARSAW, Poland (AP)—A sensational new version of the arrest of Soviet police boss Lavrenty P. Beria, purporting to come from Premier Khrushchev, was reported by Polish Communist sources.

They said Beria brandished a pistol and was disarmed by Khrushchev himself who wrestled with him in a heretofore undisclosed meeting of the Communist party politburo.

The Polish sources told western reporters they were present at a glass-clinking reception for about 1,000 persons during the recent Soviet Communist party congress in Moscow when Khrushchev launched into the story of his physical struggle with Beria.

This is the account: Khrushchev said Beria, backed by an army of secret police, launched a determined bid for power. Beria was a member of the triumvirate that included V. M. Molotov and Georgi Malenkov, and was then ruling the Soviet Union after the death of Stalin.

Other members of the politburo called a show-down meeting of the politburo for the ostensible purpose of discussing military questions.

Before the meeting Khrushchev appealed for support to Marshal Kiril S. Moskalenko, the commandant of the Moscow garrison who since has become deputy defence minister and chief of rocket forces.

At the meeting, Beria agents checked politburo members for concealed weapons.

But Moskalenko managed to smuggle in a sub-machinegun past the guards. Since the meeting was to discuss military problems, Moskalenko and his picked group were allowed into a waiting room adjoining the politburo room.

At the meeting Beria pulled a gun. Khrushchev grabbed him and tried to get the gun. Malenkov pressed a floor button, summoning Moskalenko and his group.

Beria was overpowered, put under arrest and led away.

Khrushchev's account ended here, but the Polish sources said Beria was later put on trial and executed.

Tony was out walking with Peaches when a car pulled up,

Later, Mrs. Hewitt was told by a youthful phone caller: "You can get the dog back if you'll meet me in three minutes at a nearby church parking lot."

Mrs. Hewitt hurried to the lot. A boy appeared with Peaches and demanded $25 ransom, saying it has to go to the boys who stole the dog. Mrs. Hewitt gave him the money. The boy returned the dog and fled.

Mr. Hewitt is offering $50 reward for arrest of the dog-nappers, but adds: "I don't want anything done to the boy who returned the dog."

Expanding the Ferries

IT WILL occasion no great surprise that the Bennett government should have decided to buy the Black Ball's Nanaimo-Vancouver ferry service. This is a corollary to the recent acquisition by the B.C. Toll Authority of the Gulf Island and Coast Ferries, and an extension of the operations of the Swartz Bay-Tsawwassen system.

The latter has been so successful, also, as to warrant equal expectations for the direct Nanaimo-Vancouver connection.

It is patently the belief of Premier Bennett that these diverse coastal ferry operations can best be handled by government agency. This ties them into one overall transportation system with the advantage of a unified policy of operation. There can be no quarrel with the thesis that transportation facilities for people living on coastal islands should approximate as nearly as possible those available to mainland citizens. The argument that ships and bridges and roads form equal parts of the provincial public transportation system can be sustained.

Mr. Bennett says Vancouver Island can't be developed on one wing, an aspiration that will please the Nanaimo community. They have witnessed the impetus to tourism and commerce in the southern wing as represented by the Swartz Bay ferry and will look for an equal flip to the local economy.

Private operators were asked to improve the Nanaimo service but apparently felt unable to do so. And where private enterprise hesitates Premier Bennett seems ready to step in. In the matter of ferries certainly the public is likely to be behind him.

Nothing succeeds like success, but success sometimes goes to the head and the government has so many public irons in the fire these days it may be in danger of overreaching itself. The Black Ball system seems to have been offered at a reasonable price, however, and if the Tsawwassen ferry is a criterion the Nanaimo run should pay its way also.

Another factor of importance to the provincial scene is that the expansion of the toll authority's marine operations means work for the B.C. shipyards.

Two new ships will be needed for the Nanaimo-Vancouver service, another is required for the Gulf Island-Tsawwassen run, and yet another will be necessary as a relief vessel to keep both the Nanaimo and Victoria ferries on the hourly schedule contemplated for the near future. This involves a large capital outlay but it also means employment for many skilled shipwrights and related craftsmen. The economy of the province is thus boosted materially.

Another point worth noting is that the purchase of the Black Ball assets will bring this American-owned subsidiary into Canadian hands, which in the realm of provincial transportation is a desirable situation.

Far From Gloomy

IRREFUTABLE evidence of Canada's rapid economic recovery is contained in the latest Dominion Bureau of Statistics report on unemployment.

According to the bureau, 318,000 Canadians were unemployed in October—some 50,000 fewer than last year—representing 4.9 per cent of the total labor force compared with 5.7 per cent in October, 1960.

Further to this, the report states that of the 318,000 persons out of work, 25,000 were seeking part-time jobs only and another 13,000 were on temporary layoffs of 30 days or less, thus leaving a figure of 280,000 Canadians—or 4.3 per cent of the labor force—actually looking for full-time employment.

It is more than possible that this figure could again be substantially reduced if through some magic but brutal formula those individuals who simply won't work could be eliminated.

This, of course, is a problem category and the numbers involved are not yet known but are suspected of being far higher than generally thought.

Touching on the tricky subject earlier this week, two of Canada's largest seasonal industries—pulp and paper and fisheries—complained bitterly that many woodworkers and fishermen preferred to draw seasonal unemployment insurance to working.

In a brief to the Gill committee of inquiry on unemployment insurance, the Fisheries Council of Canada reported that many fishermen "simply quit and go home" in the fall in order to draw benefits "although they are not entitled to them."

In the same vein, the Canadian Pulp and Paper Association stated that it was impossible to find competent woodworkers after Christmas. "By then," the association said, "they prefer drawing benefits to braving the rigors of the Canadian winters."

How far these abuses spread into other industries is, at the moment, anybody's guess. However, it may be that the commission of inquiry will ferret out the true facts and recommend some action that will result in a more accurate picture of Canadian unemployment.

In the meantime, even under the present system of recording, the situation appears far from gloomy.

A Gap to Fill

TWO SCHOOL trustees who have given service of exceptional merit to Greater Victoria over a long period, Mr. W. C. Gelling and Mr. Kenneth Leeming, have announced they will leave the school board when their current terms expire at the end of December. Mr. Gelling has been a trustee for eight years, and is at present chairman of the board; Mr. Leeming has served for ten years, and is finance chairman, and both have been notable for their conscientious work and their sensible approach to school problems in a period of great growth.

Greater Victoria can well be grateful to these two men for their contributions to community progress. But it should also be concerned, and seriously so, about their departure from the board and the gap thus left.

The period of growth with its extraordinary problems stretches far ahead yet in the Greater Victoria school system, and in recent years few new volunteers have come forward to help shoulder the administrative load in this most important field of endeavor.

School trustees gain little glory and no salary; they face the frustration of provincial control which tightly limits their powers; they often face criticism. But clear-thinking, business-like men or women with sufficient interest in education and in serving their fellow-citizens to ignore these deterrents must be found and persuaded to offer their services; one alternative can be the opening of the gates to crackpots and cranks.

Thinking Aloud

"... of shoes, and ships,

By TOM TAYLOR

SO the Mona Lisa has been unmasked, as it were. She has been shown in profile. No longer does that mysterious lady gaze at you with the "enigmatic" smile that posterity has ascribed to her.

If da Vinci is listening, or watching, he can afford a smile of his own perhaps. He probably painted La Gioconda in all innocence. It is those who come after who find in books and characters attributes their creators never even suspected.

By what trickery or art a London photographer has added another dimension to a front-face image yours truly couldn't begin to guess. He is one of those who fears to look a camera in the eye lest it deflate his ego.

But this new science, this new orientation of the flat-surface look, should be a boon to passport photos. Assuming one to have a profile worth showing, that is.

The London photographer who, accidentally apparently, stumbled on the process that enabled him to give solid form to the Mona Lisa, says he chose this picture because it fascinated him. It has fascinated many others.

Because of her alleged smile.

This seemed to hold the hidden depths of a woman's secrets. Legend has grown up around this painting, concerned with her smile. One theory has it that the smile is a forced one, concealing some terrible torment. Others see in it only a whimsical feminine air.

I must confess I never could see any smile on the face of da Vinci's celebrated subject. The original may be more persuasive than the reproductions but in my humble estimation she is simply giving someone a sideways look of disdain. As though indeed she were implying in North American colloquial parlance, "Oh yeah?"

A smile should include the eyes, but if you dip into your books of art and turn to the da Vinci masterpiece you will note, I hope, no semblance of such expression. She could have been saying to her little boy, assuming she had one, or even to da Vinci himself: "I told you so."

I have thus never understood the reputed "enigma" of her smile.

What's at the bottom of this new photographic twist I do not know, as aforesaid, but the profile that's been discovered does nothing to sustain the smile mystery. As you would observe from the picture in the Colonist the other day, it destroys it.

There isn't even the ghost of a smile to be seen.

Side views and front faces differ enormously; you must have observed that in the mirror long ago. One or the other casts a person in the better light. And this profile doesn't enhance the Mona Lisa. For one thing, according to other pictures of this photographic phenomenon available in our office, it gives her a double chin.

This is scarcely complimentary to La Gioconda, or to da Vinci either. If the lady did have any tendency to blackness beneath her neatly-pointed countenance the master concealed it. Assuming the Mona Lisa does after all wear a smile, perhaps this is the reason.

But better she had been left alone. Nothing is added when great paintings, or any works of art, are dissected and analyzed and turned outside in. Especially where a famous lady is concerned.

Even though yours truly couldn't spot the smile countenance, others did, and it gave them endless fascination and speculation.

And if this solid form business is pushed too far the Mona Lisa is liable to be so displeased she will leave her frame and walk out of the Louvre altogether.

Britain's Health Service

Better Off Without It?

By DUANE FARQUHARSON, from London

FEW people in Britain would suggest that they would be better off without the National Health Service. After 13 years of operation under both political parties the NHS has become too much of a sacred cow to allow that sort of blasphemy.

Yet that is the conclusion—almost—which Dr. D. S. Lees, an economics professor at the University of North Staffordshire, gropes towards in a recently published pamphlet, Health Through Choice.

Dr. Lees does not say that the astronomical rise in the cost of the health service to the British taxpayer is more than the nation can afford. He does not argue that other vital social services have suffered because too much money has gone to health. Rather, he answers these charges, made by other critics, in a manner which provides a much greater indictment of the service.

"Far from being extravagant," he writes, "expenditure on the NHS has been less than consumers would probably have chosen to spend in a free market."

If this sentence is correct it suggests that the NHS has brought the community not more health but less than it would have most likely enjoyed under an alternative, freer system.

At first sight, Dr. Lees admits, the rise in the cost of the compulsory service has been alarming. The actual cost for 1949-50 was 70 per cent larger than the estimated cost, at an annual rate, for 1950-51. Ceilings were imposed on total expenditure but found impossible to hold. Charges were introduced and extended, yet the cost continued to rise and in 1960-61 was double that of 10 years earlier.

But, the professor argues, though NHS has operated in an atmosphere of financial crisis due to gross under-estimating and subsequent inflation, when comparisons are made with other social services and with the gross national product the increase in health expenditure is far from frightening.

Between 1949-50 and 1959-60 expenditure on NHS in money terms increased by over 80 per cent. After allowing for the rise in prices, the real increase was only 36 per cent, compared with 50 per cent in education and 75 per cent in national insurance schemes. Thus health expenditure fell as a proportion of social service expenditure from 28 to 23 per cent, and as a proportion of gross national product from 4.0 to 3.9 per cent.

These figures are irrefutable, Dr. Lees' claim, however, that Englishmen would have spent more on health if left to themselves is not subject to the same statistical proof.

What the professor can and does show by comparison with other countries that there is no evidence for the popularly-held view that much of the credit for health improvements in recent years in Britain is due to the NHS.

He shows that in the United States, where three-quarters of medical care is personal (non-governmental) health services take a larger share of GNP than in Britain. Furthermore that share has increased sharply whereas in Britain it has at best remained constant.

He finds that American experience and general notions alike suggest that if people are left to make their own free choices the demand for medical care will rise faster than incomes. Experience under NHS has so far been the reverse.

Dr. Lees has severe criticisms to make of the workings of the health service. He seeks to show that it has encouraged the production of inferior drugs and virtually suspended the building of hospitals. He charges it "has created discontented professions, perpetuated a shortage of dentists and failed to anticipate or alleviate a shortage of doctors."

His major charge is that it has isolated a noble profession from that natural consumer-demand that makes for healthy and harmonious development, and subjected it instead to the baneful influence of the ballot-box.

Where Are They Now?

Good Grisly Fun

By CASSANDRA, from London

PATHOS in the Moscow Red Square.

Oh, these Russians! There you have Marshal Voroshilov, the founder of the Red Army, who started with the Bolshevik Party in 1903 long before Khrushchev was a shepherd and a locksmith, who fought the Germans to a standstill and was Chairman of the Presidium of the Supreme Soviet, begging for a seat over the Lenin tomb and then later grace-crashing a Kremlin reception.

He was gently led away. One of the awful (meaning: filling one with awe) things about these people is their capacity for self-deception, contradiction and stuporous self-persuasion in the dream-world of Communism.

They worship their human gods, and then, with a prayer of adulation still on their lips, they smash the image on the shrine with fists and boots and curses.

No nation has ever devalued its heroes with such primordial zest. Roll the muffled drums. Lay on the yew. But withhold your tears.

Cry for Trotsky, Bukharin, Ignatiev, Kameney, Pyatkov, Radek, Rakovsky, Rykov, Tomsky, Tukachevsky, Yagoda, Yezhov.

Mourn for Beria, Kuznetsov, Zosmensky, and Popov.

Where are they now?

Are you there, Bulganin—the chubby Bulgy of the hypocritical B and K vaudeville act that so recently clowning its way across the European and Asian world? Ask Molotov—to make a fresh political (and maybe physical) corpse?

Ask Malenkov, Kaganovitch, Shepilov, Serov and Zhukov, Comrades, in and near the tomb raise your clenched fists. Ask Stalin; ask the biggest killer of them all sanctified by Khrushchev for over two decades. Ask old Uncle Joe, who has now been de-mummified in the Kremlin Tassards and laughingly wheeled out into a semi-anonymous plot outside the walls of the unholy citadel.

All this is good grisly fun. But, if the same ludicrously unbalanced judgments are applied to what goes on over Berlin—then goodnight, sweet heart.

Goodnight.

Governess Maud

I have been reading the Earl of Birkenhead's spirited defence of Professor Lindemann ("The Prof in Two Worlds": Collins) who was Churchill's chief scientific adviser throughout the war and after.

Sir Charles Snow, another eminent scientist, recently in a series of unflattering lectures at Harvard, pictured Lindemann as a very odd bird—which he was—but drew a portrait that was unflinchingly hostile.

Lord Birkenhead has fished the memory of his old friend out of the pond of obliquity and has done generous restitution to his tarnished reputation.

Scientists, as is apparent from both these widely differing accounts, can be as nasty to each other as rival actresses in a falling show.

Their approach to the obvious is also astonishingly devious.

Lord Birkenhead recounts an amusing incident which occurred during the most crucial period of the war, when the struggle to be first in building the A-bomb was at its most intense.

In England there was at that time a highly secret committee working on uranium fission. When Denmark was overrun the famous physicist Niels Bohr sent a cryptic telegram to the committee which referred to a certain Maud Ray Kent.

Some really bright scientific boy worked out an anagram, and using the letters M.A.U.D. R.A.Y.K.E.N.T., translated it into RADIUM TAKEN—from which it was deduced that the Germans had seized Bohr's radium and were making an atomic bomb themselves. In gratitude, the committee then christened themselves the M.A.U.D. Committee.

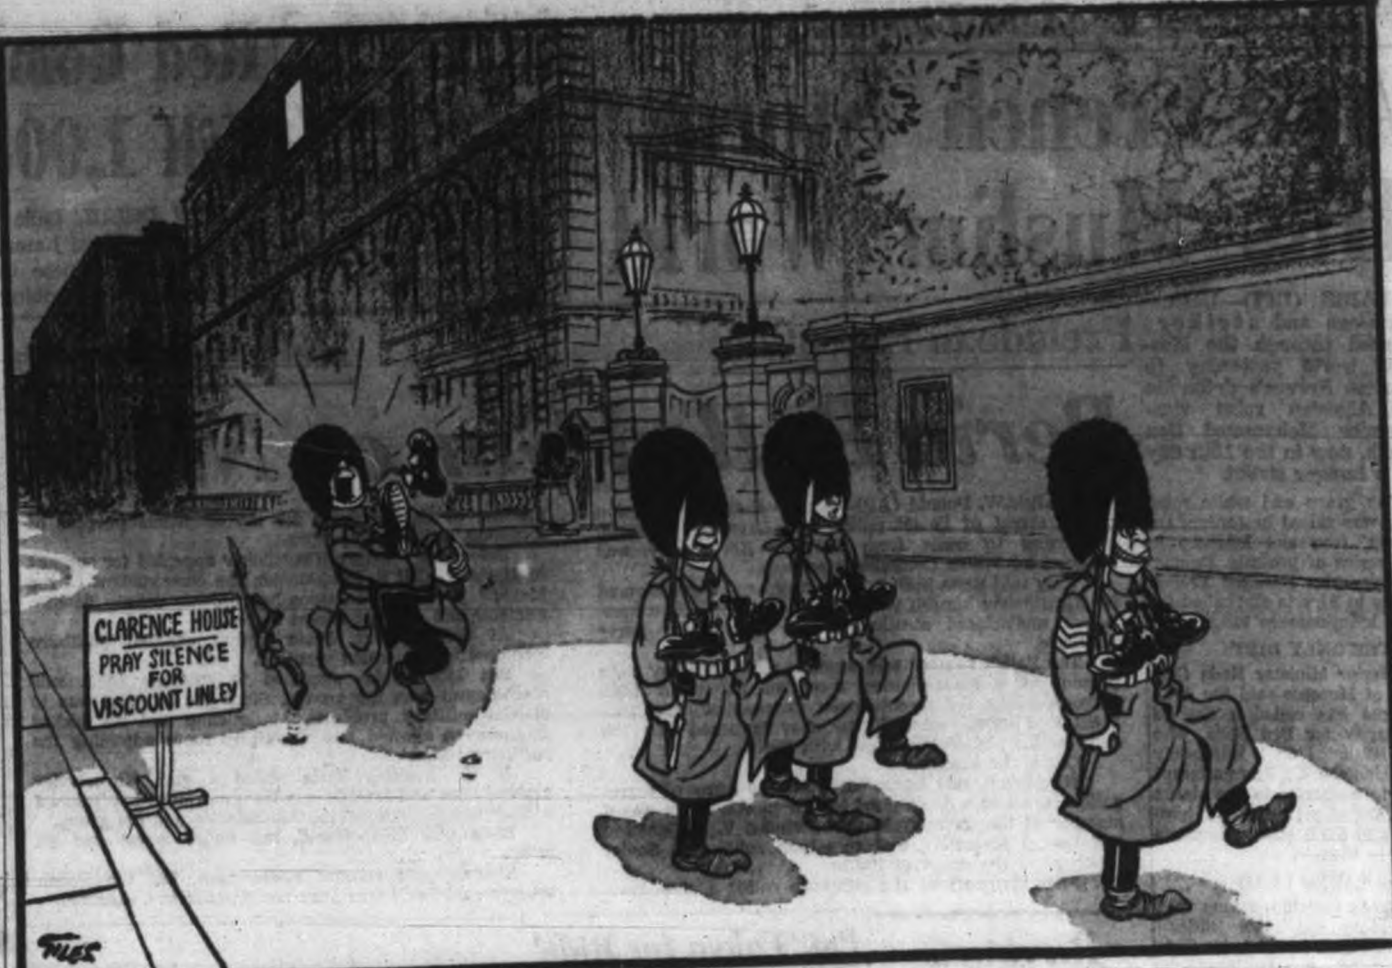

When Bohr finally reached England some months later, he was congratulated on the brilliance of his anagram and the vital information that it contained about the enemy.

The truth, he said, was somewhat more prosaic. He had, years ago in England, a favorite governess and he was referring to her.

Her name was Maud Ray. She lived in Kent.

Now that I am back in regular business, I have received a message which says: "Glad you are back at the old coconut shy. Your readers will be more pleased to take deadly aim at you."

With the hoarse, triumphant cry of the fairground, I bellow in reply: "ROLL, BOWL OR PITCH—THEY'RE ALL MILKY!"

"Whoops! Jack's trod on something sharp"

The Packack

By GREGORY CLARE

IT is a pity we have not got more ordinary trained surveyors and civil engineers in politics sitting in our governments, federal, provincial and civic. They are accustomed to taking bearings. And anybody who can take a bearing can see that we are heading straight as an unfired arrow, towards communism as hard as we can go. I do not mean the Marxist-Leninist pseudo-religious communism that Russia has got itself engulfed in. I mean communism as being the opposite of individualism. That is the only and true meaning of communism.

Every year sees less and less of private enterprise and more and more of corporate enterprise. The small shops are being rolled under by the supermarkets. The minor industries are becoming satellites of the major industries. In education, our children and our youth are being trained and conditioned to "participate." Churches are uniting. Newspapers are merging. The civil service is growing like a lone tree.

We are getting everything into lovely large fat packets so that when the time comes the state, or whatever the state or whatever the state persuades us they are the state, can take us over, body and britches. It would be an awful job to quell ten thousand shopkeepers. It would be no trick at all to liquidate a few hundred reluctant members of the boards.

Talent Thrown Away

A Loss to Canada

By JACK HUTTON

HAS the time arrived in Canada when thousands of bright students will be stopped annually from throwing away their talent?

If so—how do you stop them?

These two questions hung in the air following release of a 63-page report on Development of Student Potential, Canadian Conference on Education.

The report, written by Dr. Lewis S. Beattie, former superintendent of secondary education for the Ontario Department of Education, warns that the situation is having a "disastrous" effect upon unemployment.

Dr. Beattie, who worked closely with Dr. Edward F. Sheffield, research officer for the Canadian Universities Foundation, wrote his report after months of research, helped by 20 cross-Canada consultants.

Included in his report—which was immediately hailed by educators and business and labor spokesmen—are the following statements apt to sober any parent:

"Too many Canadians, both young and not so young, undervalue the educational opportunities offered in this country, assuming an attitude which is often in striking contrast to that of New Canadian families."

Some critics of our present-day society believe that young people lack the sense of mission that used to be characteristic of earlier generations and is apparent today in the youth of Communist countries. In this advertising age, educational authorities would be classified as poor advertisers.

In fact, the public appears to be more aware of the weaknesses of the education system than of its offerings.

Canadian parents would be unwilling to accept the arbitrary direction of students which is used in totalitarian states... on the other hand it may be that we allow the individual too much freedom of choice.

Dr. Beattie and Sheffield deplore the school of thought, which, snobbishly, brands as a failure any student who does not pursue a university-bound course.

Are those Canadian students who have dropped out of school before their proper time to blame?

No, answered Dr. Beattie. None of Canada's provinces should be complacent, he said. "Two-thirds of all individuals, and probably about half of those who could do so, fail to complete a regular high school course."

"According to the 1951 census returns, one half of the population in the age group of 20-30 years had completed only nine years of schooling, and only three per cent of the group were still attending school or university."

At least one-third of the top students do not finish high school. Too few of the lowest group learn a marketable skill. And a large proportion of the average majority should complete a high school course but don't.

The excessive drop-out in the last group is having a manpower effect upon the cause of serious loss to both the individual and the country," said Dr. Beattie. (Telegram News Service)

Contest Treat

Late Sproat Lake Holiday Wonderful, Say Winners

Even in November, Klitsa Lodge on beautiful Sproat Lake in the Alberni, makes a lovely jumping off spot for a varied holiday weekend.

This was the reaction of Dirk and Jane Okker, 1199 Goldstream, who spent last weekend as the guests of the management of Klitsa Lodge, a hidden weight prize they won for a 1-pound bass they entered in The Daily Colonist King Fisherman contest.

FEELINGS ECHOED

Their feelings echoed those of Mr. and Mrs. W. J. Arden, 478 Gorge, who were King Fisherman guests at Klitsa Lodge in September.

"We stayed in a big comfortable room with the most comfortable bed we have yet found in any island resort, and we had a wonderful steak dinner the first night," said Mrs. Okker.

'LOST CUTTHROAT'

"We would like to go back again," said Mr. Okker.

Saturday morning they went with lodge manager Frank Wagner to the Taylor River where the big cutthroat which followed the salmon up the river. "I lost a big cutthroat under the bridge, just after we started fishing," said Mr. Okker. "It took my tackle."

'DIDN'T MATTER'

"The beautiful drive along Sproat Lake to the Taylor River was so wonderful, it didn't really matter how bad the road was—and it isn't really that bad a road," said Mrs. Okker.

"Whatever we wanted, we could get. They even packed our lunches. The meals were superb. If everybody gets the kind of treatment we got, it must be a wonderful place to stay," Mr. Okker said.

They took a 16-foot outboard boat and trolled among the islands in Two Rivers Arm of Sproat Lake.

"It is a very pretty lake, with its mountain-rimmed shores, snow-capped Mount Klitsa almost towering above, and virgin timber along the shoreline," said Mrs. Okker.

Fuel Co-op Urged To Fight Prices

VERNON (CP) — Okanagan fruit growers may consider establishing a co-operative to counter "exceedingly high" prices of gasoline in the Interior.

Bob Davidson, chairman of the north district council of the B.C. Fruit Growers Association, said Thursday a co-operative association which retails gas to its members would be asked to address association meetings on its system.

SUBSIDIZE COAST BCFGA members claim Interior residents are being forced to subsidize gas buyers in the big coastal market and that freight haulage has little to do with Interior prices.

BCFGA official John Kosty said gas hauled 200 miles from a Kamloops refinery to Hope was cheaper than gas hauled from Kamloops to Vernon, a distance of 75 miles.

BRING REVOLUTION Said chairman Davidson: "If the oil companies won't lower the price of gasoline here, I think we should bring in a resolution at the next convention asking the executive to investigate the possibility of forming a co-operative."

Big Take for B.C.

Oil Sale Pays Off

By HARRY YOUNG, Colonist Business Editor

The B.C. government yesterday netted its second largest single take from the sale of petroleum and natural gas rights, when it collected $4,081,989 for the provincial treasury from 38 parcels of land.

Only once before in the 26 B.C. oil and gas sales to date has this figure been exceeded, and on that occasion a much larger acreage was involved.

Mines and Petroleum Minister Kenneth Kiernan said modestly that the results were "quite satisfactory."

The biggest single purchase was made by Canada Southern Petroleum and Sinclair Canadian Oil. They paid $551,107 for a drilling reservation for a well in the Boundary Lake, B.C.'s largest oilfield. For this outlay the two companies are required to drill a well to the Halfway formation to earn approximately one-third of the 12,523-acre reservation.

The Pure Oil Company put up the second largest bid for a drilling reservation north of Fort Nelson in the "hot" natural gas area of the northeast corner of the province. Pure Oil paid a $365,000 bonus and undertook to drill a well to the Slave Point and Elk Point formations in return for one-third of 19,407 acres.

Three newcomers to the B.C. oil scene were Texel Petroleum, Canadian Keweenaw Limited and Kern County Land Co. Texel paid a bonus of $164,651 for 336 acres in the south Boundary Lake field.

Education Is Theme Of Island Meeting

Vancouver Island communities will take a searching look at higher education Nov. 25, at a conference to be held in the Nanaimo Senior High School.

Sponsored by the Alumni Association of the University of B.C., the conference will be open to all interested persons. Theme of the conference will be: "How can higher education meet the needs of your community?"

Some of B.C.'s top educators will be speakers and participants on panel discussions. Theme of the conference will be outlined by Dr. N. A. M. MacKenzie, president of UBC, in a keynote address.

INITIAL PROFITS Profits of Revelstoke Building Supplies before taxation for the first five months of its operations as a publicly owned company were $629,000.

B.C. Ferry Expansion Builds Hope Up-Island

By ALEC MERRIMAN
Colonist Outdoor Editor

When the provincial government takes over Black Ball Ferries Ltd. operations, the way will be paved for establishment of a marine highway ferry service between Port Hardy on the north of Vancouver Island, and Prince Rupert or Kitimat.

That was the feeling expressed at Port Hardy yesterday by Comox Social Credit MLA Dan Campbell, who has been one of the chief agitators for better ferry service to Vancouver Island points.

(See also Page 21.)

MARINE HIGHWAY

This proposed ferry service, he said, would connect with the planned Alaska Marine Highway from Skagway to Prince Rupert by ferry, from Prince Rupert to Port Hardy by ferry (as outlined by Highway Minister Gagliardi at an Alaska-Yukon-B.C. conference

Coach Lines Orders Keep Pace with Ships

Vancouver Island Coach Lines announced yesterday it is buying a fleet of 12 new coaches at a cost of $624,000 to keep pace with expansion of ferry services between Vancouver Island and the mainland.

G. Conway Parrott, general manager, said the first five coaches have already been ordered and will go into service next Easter on the Swartz Bay-Tsawwassen trip.

Other new coaches will be used to step up service to Vancouver via Nanaimo when the government introduces hourly service on the Departure Bay-Horseshoe Bay run.

In July, 1960, by highway down Vancouver Island, and for the north end of the island, because it shows the government is now taking an interest in this part.

He thought it could lead to a speedup of the north Island road program so the proposed Port Hardy-Prince Rupert ferry service could be established.

At present there is a 10-year target to completion of a Kel-sey Bay to Port Hardy Road, but Mr. Campbell believes that a new federal-provincial cost-sharing road-building program will be started as soon as the Trans-Canada Highway is completed.

FINISHED SOON

The 12-mile Port McNeill to Beaver Cove Road is now under construction and scheduled for completion next year. The 23 miles of road between Kelsey Bay and Beaver Cove is the 10-year project.

A new private ferry service will take over the Kelsey Bay to Port McNeill route on Thursday and it is understood Northwest Shipping Co. which now operates the service, will drop out.

New operators will be Coast Ferries Ltd. with the Island Princess, which has just been taken off the Gulf Islands mainland route because it was unable to meet competition of the new government ferry service between Swartz Bay and Tsawwassen. The Island Princess carries 20 to 24 cars, plus freight and passengers.

"North Islanders are quite pleased about the new service," he said. Murray Transportation Services, which pioneered a north Island ferry, will be shipping agents.

PLAY THE GAME

Capt. O. H. New, president of Coast Ferries, told the Colonist yesterday he didn't think the government should compete against free enterprise, unless it plays the game with the same rules as free enterprise has to follow.

"If the government works under a socialized plan, how can the man under free enterprise exist?" asked Eason Young, an official of Barkley Sound Transportation Company which has a two-ferry service in Nootka Sound. "The Gulf Islands were served by free enterprise, but those people aren't there anymore after government competition," he said.

SO BACKWARDS

"You can't beat the government. The CPR was so backward it was necessary for the government to step in and modernize the system, because the CPR wouldn't. Now they are taking over other services. In some cases they were paying subsidies for half services."

Black Ball Price Tag Too High?

VANCOUVER (CP) — Shipping officials here have questioned the $7,500,000 price tag Black Ball Ferries has put on its fleet of odd-type vessels in a sale offer to the British Columbia government.

They questioned the worth of the United States-owned system's five ferries, terminals and goodwill.

Frederic Bennett has termed the asked price fair, and says he plans to take it to the B.C. Toll Highways and Bridges Authority for action. However, he would not confirm the exact price asked.

100 MPH Is 'Safer' But Not Safe Enough

A police magistrate yesterday heard a Crown prosecutor concede that 100 miles an hour in a sports car was safer than 170 miles an hour in an ordinary sedan, but ruled it was still dangerous driving under the Criminal Code.

Magistrate A. I. Thomas in Central Saanich police court found Stephen R. Brewster of New Westminster guilty on the charge and fined him $35.

George B. Sterne, Sidney garage operator and sports car racer, voiced the opinion that 100 miles an hour in the sports car in question would involve risks comparable to 75 or 80 miles in the kind of sedan used by Const. Colin Barker to chase Brewster.

FIRMER SPRINGING

He cited the sports car's firmer springing, more accurate steering, lighter weight, special tires and large brakes in support of his opinion.

Another defence witness, Colonel automobile editor J. T. Jones, described domestic sedans as designed primarily for comfort and ease of driving.

Const. Barker told the court of seeing Brewster's car traveling at high speed on the Patricia Bay Highway on a late October evening.

He said he chased it for about 4 1/2 miles with the police car speedometer registering 100 to 110 miles an hour. Brewster stopped at the East Saanich Road junction near the airport and was immediately arrested. Brewster told the court he estimated his own speed at about 100.

Defence counsel T. P. O'Grady contended that because of the nature of the accused man's car, such a pace was "foolish," but not dangerous to the public.

Gerald Neely, acting for the Crown, conceded the defence point that the sports car was designed for speed, but declared the overall condition justified the charge.

Crisis-Weary President Takes Political Breather

By PETER BRUTON
Colonist Staff Reporter

SEATTLE—The story goes that whenever President John Kennedy gets a little "stir crazy" in Washington, D.C., he takes off on a trip to some place where the people will shout for him rather than at him.

Yesterday the people were shouting for him, and yet, to this reporter, the crowds who gathered to cheer as he drove into Seattle did not seem particularly large. Officials estimated that between 25,000 and 30,000 residents lined the streets or were outside the temporary "White House"—set up in the Olympic Hotel—in order to get a glimpse of the good-looking, 44-year-old chief executive. The welcome ranged from a shower of multi-colored "ticker tape" in the downtown area to picketing in protest against U.S. actions in Cuba on the campus of the University of Washington.

WE WENT REPUBLICAN

"He still doesn't realize this state went Republican," a radio newsmen dryly commented as only a sparse ribbon of people gathered along the route to the university. President Kennedy, a thin, wiry figure with a head which seems somehow too large, looked tired and strained as he walked down the steps from the plane which brought him west.

The ever-present Secret Service men kept an eye on the crowd, mainly Boeing plant employees, as the president accepted a gold-plated pass to the world's fair in Seattle next summer.

MULTI-ANNIVERSARY

In a brief speech President Kennedy said it was a pleasure to be in Seattle to honor the 100th anniversary of the founding of the University of Washington, the 25th anniversary of Senator Warren Magnuson's election to congress, and the first anniversary of his election to the presidency.

He flashed his famous grin, mainly for the benefit of the hordes of television cameramen, and then was ushered towards an open convertible for the drive into town.

The president moves slowly and as if in pain, probably because of the back injury which has plagued him for past months.

When the cavalcade of cars did move off, the president sat in the back of the convertible, rising to a half standing position a couple of times to acknowledge the cheers of the crowd. It was clear and sunny but quite cold.

More than 11,000 people had gathered in the cavernous, multi-tiered hall at the university and gave the president a thunderous reception.

President Kennedy, dressed in scarlet and black Harvard robes, spoke with a precise, clipped voice which was hard to hear in the giant hall.

It was not until the evening that the president really found himself among friends.

More than 3,000 Democrats filled four main dining rooms, a half-dozen smaller ones and a restaurant across the street for a $100-a-plate dinner.

And the welcome made a tired president really happy. They were indeed shouting for him.

Capsule Caught By Plane

VANDENBERG AIR BASE, Calif. (AP)—The gold-plated capsule of the 35th Discoverer satellite was caught in the air by a U.S. Air Force recovery plane Thursday.

This is the 10th recovery in the series and the seventh to be made in the air, the air force announced in Los Angeles. Three capsules have been recovered from the sea.

Discoverer 35 was launched here Wednesday. One aim of the series is to perfect a recovery technique that can be used later on manned space vehicles.

'Growth Plan' Wins Support

PARIS (CP)—The United States Thursday outlined an Atlantic "plan for growth" in the next decade and won qualified support from most of the 20 countries expected to participate. Canada welcomed the idea, approved today.

Richard Bell, parliamentary assistant to Finance Minister Fleming, said Canada recognizes the stimulus that a collective target for growth may give. The scheme is likely to be approved today.

It calls for the 20 members of the Organization for Economic Co-operation and Development to boost their collective gross national product—the sum of their goods and services—by 50 per cent by the end of 1970.

Slayings Called Outrageous Crime

"These men, who had served the UN operation in the Congo with devotion and valor, were ambushed and brutally murdered by undisciplined Congolese troops in an act of outright savagery," Thant said in a message sent to Italian Foreign Minister Antonio Segni here and to Segni's government in Rome.

UN DIRECTIVE

"I wish you to know also that I have directed the UN representatives in the Congo to pursue with vigor all possible measures to ensure that those responsible for this outrageous crime and all who participated in it will receive the punishment they deserve," he added.

Segni issued a statement expressing confidence that the UN would take steps to prevent tragedies similar to those which overtook his country's airmen.

GIZENGA BLAMED

Between 1,300 and 2,000 Congolese troops are reported to be in Kivu. They were flown in from Stanleyville to help in the central government's abortive invasion of Katanga province.

Gizenga was reported to have followed them and to have incited them to a demonstration against the Leopoldville regime.

SEALED OFF?

Reliable sources said the whole area would probably be sealed off and Congolese troops inside disarmed. There was also speculation the UN planned to disarm all Congolese troops.

Exchange Kept Busy By Mine Stock Rush

By HARRY YOUNG Colonist Business Editor

Toronto Stock Exchange had its busiest day since March 11, 1959, when 8,458,000 shares were traded yesterday. Activity was chiefly in a handful of low-priced mining stocks, one of which, Wiltsey Coghlan, traded over 1,387,000 shares.

The trend at Toronto, Montreal, Vancouver, New York and London was generally downward, reversing the upward pattern of recent sessions.

SHAREHOLDERS CONFERENCE
Local shareholders of B.C. Power Corporation are invited by the shareholders' committee for fair expropriation terms to attend a meeting in the Orange Hall, Courtney Street, Victoria, on Nov. 29.

A similar meeting held in Vancouver on Wednesday evening attracted about 200 people.

A Victoria delegate to the Vancouver meeting said that there were about 8,000 B.C. Power shareholders in British Columbia and that about 600 of them had signed their dissatisfaction with the takeover procedure.

CMA ASKS CHANGES
A delegation representing the Canadian Manufacturers' Association presented two briefs to the B.C. government yesterday, suggesting amendments to the municipal and labor relations acts.

Heading the delegation were Harvey MacDiarmid, B.C. chairman, and Fred Mathers, national president.

CMA asked that employees should be protected from interference or threat of reprisal for withdrawing from a union, and that no person should suffer loss of employment as a result of such action.

CMA also proposed that supervised strike votes should be decided by a majority of

Violets Need Light

By M. V. CHENUT, FRAS

Quite a spate of letters on African violets has been reaching my desk lately as more and more readers take up the fascinating hobby of growing these durable and undemanding plants. As answering all these letters individually is getting to be quite a time-consuming chore, it occurred to me to pick out a few of the most commonly-asked questions and discuss them—it might take some of the pressure off!

Which exposure is best — north, east, south or west?

Any window can be used if you handle it correctly. A north window is very good if the glass is clean and the plant close to the uncurtained pane but, if the window is screened in summer, the plant may not receive enough light—it is surprising how much the light value can be cut down by a fly screen.

It isn't too hard to tell when a plant isn't getting enough light. However, for the leaf stems grow abnormally long, the plant quits blooming and it takes on a more upright appearance as the foliage readjusts for the light.

Uncurtained east and west windows are usually satisfactory but may be too bright at certain seasons of the year. Unobstructed sunlight through a south window is almost always too bright for plants on or close to the windowsill. However, African violets put up unmistakable signals when the sunlight is too strong—the leaves turn a very light green, almost bleached-looking—and the remedy is simple. Put up a thin curtain or move the plants further back into the room.

Just what temperature do African violets like?

They perform best in a range of from 65 to 70 during the day with a drop of not more than 10 degrees at night. Somewhat cooler temperatures do not hurt the plant but slow down growth and inhibit flower production. Higher temperatures are tolerated if accompanied by high humidity, as in summer, but high indoor temperatures in winter are almost always accompanied by a lowering of atmospheric moisture and African violets detect dry air, showing their resentment by slowing up growth and foregoing bloom.

There isn't much you can do to increase humidity outside of revamping the heating system of the house. One violet fan of my acquaintance shifts her plants to the bathroom during periods of low humidity — these are times when there is a very wide spread between indoor and outdoor temperatures — and while they suffer a little from the rather poor light in the bathroom, they revel in the warm, steamy air, like that of their native East African mountain-side home.

Another way of coaxing your violets through the times when the indoor air is desert-dry is to spray the leaves once or twice a day with a fine mist of plain warm water. Don't be afraid of wetting the leaves. Large, cold drops of water will put queer-looking Chinese laundry marks on the foliage, but it is the low temperature and chilling of the leaf tissues that does the damage rather than the wet. A fine spray of warm water is most beneficial. Just keep the plants out of direct sunshine until the leaves are dry.

How can you clean the leaves?

Use a soft, clean brush. A small, new, paint brush is good, or a lady's complexion brush or an infant's hair brush. Support each leaf with your hand under it as you stroke the upper surface in the direction in which the leaf hairs grow—that is, from the base toward the point of the leaf.

We'll discuss soil, potting, watering and feeding in future columns.

Art Buchwald

Money's Safe After 'Bang'

PARIS—We are indebted to the American news magazine "U.S. News and World Report," which devoted four pages of their Nov. 13 issue to a subject dear to the hearts of all of us. It was titled: "If Bombs Do Fall: What Happens to Your Savings? Property? Investments? Look Beyond a Possible H-Bomb Strike against the U.S. Would Millions Find Their Assets—Stocks, Cash, Titles to Homes—Valueless? How Would Reconstruction Costs Be Met?"

The article went on to say, "At a time of growing nuclear threat people are wondering: If I survived an attack, what would happen to my life's savings and investments?"

"An all-out nuclear war by some official estimates would kill at least 60,000,000 Americans—one-third of the population. Property damage in the U.S. might reach $400,000,000,000, with such devastation now possible, many people are asking: How can I protect my assets? Should I make changes in my stock holdings? Is there more safety in government bonds? Would life insurance have any value? What about my savings if my bank went up in smoke?"

"U.S. News and World Report" sent out their men to find the answers and, by heaven, they did. They talked to U.S. federal agencies and officials and came away with a picture much brighter than one would think. For one thing, the U.S. government is thinking in terms of what would happen after World War III (on the assumption, of course, that the U.S. won).

The magazine advises readers not to hold on to or bury cash because with strict rationing the usefulness of money might be limited, and besides the U.S. government has no intention of compensating anyone who loses money in a nuclear attack.

Stocks are another matter. One should keep records of his stock and follow usual investment policies. "Nobody can predict," the article says, "which plants would or would not be destroyed."

Holders of U.S. government bonds will be among the first paid, but insurance companies would have difficulty in paying off their vast claims, so the federal government would have to step in with stretched-out payments.

Nothing to worry about with banks. Even if a bank is destroyed, the article says there is a plan to pay off depositors.

"Piling up jewels to use in barter after an attack," the article continues, "is not advised by the government."

The main point is to keep all financial records in survival kits or fallout shelters so that you'll know what you have when you come out after the big bang is over.

After reading the piece, we were quite cheered up to know that someone is thinking about our investments, while those of us with small minds can think about nothing except the possibility of war.

We were also cheered up by the news that military planners felt that in case of nuclear war the country that climbed back on its feet first would win, and there was even a deterrent (ah, what a wonderful word that is becoming in Washington) in being ready to spring back after an attack.

The only question the "U.S. News and World Report" left unanswered is, how do we get in touch with our broker after the attack is over?

'Elegant Age' Show Fine Art Collection

By INA D. D. UNTHOFF

It is due to the generosity of the Canada Council that it has been made possible for Colin Graham to assemble so large, varied and valuable a collection of paintings, furniture, tapestries, silver, glass, enamels and ceramics, as in the present exhibition "From the Age of Elegance."

During the summer months he visited all the leading galleries in Eastern Canada and the United States with this objective.

He was delighted with the response he received, and loans followed, far beyond anything that had been visualized.

Privately-run galleries also contributed and offerings from well-known collectors were immediate and generous. The Vancouver Art Gallery loaned some of its more treasured paintings.

The occasion of this special exhibition is to mark the 10th anniversary of the move into the Spencer mansion, 1040 Moss, so generously given by Miss Sara Spencer, staunch supporter and friend from the beginning of the art gallery movement.

To go into the gallery just now makes one think of the days when life moved at a serene and dignified pace.

Beautiful furniture, paintings and silver were part of the pattern. Family portraits, richly framed, created a suitable background.

Painted by Royal academy

plans, they represented the history of the family. It was an age of elegance.

Many of the 18th century portraits are romantic in feeling and combine well with the graceful design of the furniture, but Sir Henry Raeburn's portrait of William Darnell is a powerful painting, fresh and vigorous, a fine example of straightforward painting and strong characterization.

In the landscapes, there is a very good Canaletto "The Piazzetta, Venice" and two paintings of ruins by Francesco Guardi.

"The Boy in the Green Coat" by William Hogarth is extremely interesting.

As the collection is so extensive it requires several visits to get any idea of its unusual quality.

HOLLYWOOD (NANA)—Darryl Zanuck is taking good care of his new protege. 25-year-old redhead Liana Ortel. He was worried she might catch cold during a scene in "The Longest Day" where she has to fall into the water. He had a special insulated suit built to be worn under her dress.

Anthony Quayle, shuddering slightly as he recalled his time Jordan with "Lawrence of Arabia," told me: "We were so dehydrated by the heat that every member of the cast and crew drank 32 glasses of water a day."

It's incredible, but true. Several business houses in Rome are trying to abolish the siesta. I hope they won't succeed. From 2 to 4 p.m. is the only safe time to be in a taxi in Rome, which is becoming more and more Americanized. They have bowling alleys, frozen foods in the new American-style supermarkets, you see motels everywhere, and they serve the same purpose they do in America.

The girl who stars in "Damon and Pythias," Liana Ortel, plays a lion tamer and this is good casting. Liana first appeared in a circus at the age of 21. Her father, a clown, used to pull her out of his pocket to the delighted squeals of the kids in the audience.

Optimistic Robert Wagner told me he still has a chance to star with Frank Sinatra in "The Manchurian Candidate." "Larry Harvey has so many pictures on his schedule, I don't think he will have time for it." Last I heard of the project, Larry was disappointed at some of the script changes, but his role is still terrific and I doubt that he will back out.

If Suzy Parker is having a romance with Brad Dillman, as reported, it doesn't show. Suzy is now in Hollywood starring in "The Interns," but Brad hasn't yet visited her on the set. "I'm hoping to be home in New York for the holidays," says Suzy. Meanwhile she is living in an apartment rented from Loretta Young's mother.

B.C. Blazes Devour Giant Share

VANCOUVER (CP) — Fifty per cent of the $10,000,000 cost of fighting forest fires in Canada last year was spent in B.C. Hugh Hodgins, vice-president of the Canadian Forestry Association, said yesterday.

He told the Vancouver Kiwanis Club this province has not learned to deal effectively with the dangers of fire in large segments of B.C.

"The answer is to invest money in developing greater preventive programs," he said.

Fourth Exodus

Bonner Dismisses Sect's Plans to Shift

VANCOUVER (CP) — Attorney-General Bonner said Thursday the Sons of Freedom sect of Doukhobors have asked no help from the provincial government in its proposed migration to South America.

"I don't regard the matter seriously," the attorney-general told interviewers. "This is the fourth exodus they proposed since I arrived here."

Mr. Bonner was commenting on plans announced by leaders of the sect, long blamed for violence in the Kootenays, that land would be purchased in Uruguay and a move made there. The spokesman charged they were being "persecuted" in the Kootenays, where some 40 now are under arrest in a roundup of suspects on arson and bombing charges.

JOINT OFFER

When the sect proposed to move to Russia in 1958, the federal and provincial governments jointly offered up to $2,000,000 in financial aid. A long list of names of those proposing to go were given the provincial government, but the plan fell through when no direct invitation could be obtained from Russia, from which the sect emigrated in 1899.

In Nelson, Sons of Freedom women broke into sobs Thursday as a 12-man jury found a 35-year-old Freedomite guilty on two counts of bombing.

NO EMOTION

One woman wailed hysterically as John Andrew Makortoff of Shoreacres was found guilty of making an explosive device and a second charge of intent to damage property with it.

Makortoff showed no emotion. He raised his handcuffed hands in a wave to his aged parents, sitting in the gallery, as he was led from the courtroom.

Joey Gets a Home Despite Religion

PARRY SOUND, Ont. (UPI) — After three years of dispute, Joey Lamb has a mother and father.

A district judge ruled yesterday that the four-year-old boy, who was christened as a Roman Catholic shortly after birth, can be adopted by his Protestant foster parents.

Joey has lived with Mr. and Mrs. Oliver Lamb since he was 23 days old, and Judge Walter Little ruled it would be neither common sense nor justice to take him away now. The fight over Joey began when the foster parents were told by the Children's Aid Society he could not stay permanently, because he was a Catholic.

The society has a regulation which says children should not be adopted by families of different faiths, but it gave Joey to the Lambs because there were no Catholic families seeking to adopt him.

U.K. Gets Cold 'No' To Rocket Offer

OTTAWA (CP) — The Canadian government has shied away hurriedly from renewed British attempts to interest it in the proposed Blue Streak rocket program, informants said yesterday.

British Aviation Minister Peter Thorneycroft last week ended a new attempt to have Canada participate scientifically—and financially—in a project to develop Britain's Blue Streak as a satellite launcher.

He got nowhere, sources close to the cabinet said. "We had one such experience with the Arrow interceptor and we don't want another," one informant said. The Canadian Arrow was abandoned in 1959 after government expenditures of some $450,000,000.

The Blue Streak was abandoned last year as a military weapon.

France, West Germany and other European countries are reported interested in the British proposal.

Power Users Will Suffer Shrum Warns

VANCOUVER (CP) — British Columbia's electrical power users will suffer if the province is forced to pay greater compensation for its takeover of the B.C. Electric, Dr. Gordon Shrum said yesterday.

The chairman of the giant utility said profits diverted to make a bigger payoff to BCE shareholders would reduce the rate reductions expectable next spring.

Dr. Shrum was commenting in an interview on the move by B.C. Power Corporation to have the provincial supreme court declare the takeover invalid.

Kelowna Teddy Bears Naval Vets' Target

Coach Wally Yeamans will get some idea of what chance his Naval Vets have of winning the provincial senior "B" women's basketball championship at Central Junior High School on Saturday night.

Yeamans is bringing in the best in Canada to test his squad—the Kelowna Teddy Bears, a club which has been fabulously successful for the past four seasons. Teddy Bears, coached by Bob Hall, have won the Canadian "B" title the past two seasons and this year may reach for the senior "A" honors.

There is little doubt about their qualifications. They have won 91 of their last 92 games and the string of victories includes a recent seven-point decision over Richmond, the Canadian "A" champions. Averaging close to five feet, eight inches in height, the Teddy Bears have played together for some time and Hall has kept his club at the top by being able to introduce a new player or two each season to his sturdy nucleus of proven stars.

CLUB VETERANS
Marg Fielder, Shirley Tarnay, Anita Stewart and Lois Haley are key players who have been with the club for three seasons. In their second season are Judy Robertson, a former Vancouver Islander, and Heather Inglis, a play-making guard rated by Hall as one of the best prospects he has had.

But Teddy Bears may not have it easy Monday night. Yeamans will have almost the same club which lost to Teddy Bears last season by seven points in the provincial final.

CENTRE MISSING
Naval Vets will have to play without Mary Pearson, their tall centre, but Yeamans has Gail Archibald, Sylvia Campbell, Shirley Crowe, Nita Moody, Louise Mason, Avis and Joyce Murrant and Arlene Pearce back from last season's club and has added rookies Arlene Perry and Pat Donaldson.

Saturday's feature will start after a preliminary game, which will get underway at 7 p.m., between Chinese Students and Optimists, two Victoria junior boys' clubs.

India-England Match Ends in Tame Draw

BOMBAY (Reuters)—The cricket test match between England and India ended in a tame draw here Thursday after India had been set to score 295 to win in 245 minutes.

At the close, India was well short of the target, having scored 180 for five in its second innings.

The English, who declared their first innings at 500 for eight, made a second declaration in the morning at 184 for five in an effort to force a result.

But the home team, which made 390 in its first innings, never looked like getting the runs.

The Indians gradually fell behind the clock and were 114 runs in arrears at the close.

When England resumed in the morning at 127 for three.

Relax, Cus The Money Is Coming

BOSTON (AP)—Peter Fuller, millionaire manager of challenger Tom McNeeley, said Thursday he would soon make the $1,000,000 bank deposit demanded by heavyweight champion Floyd Patterson's manager Cus D'Amato.

Fuller denied he had not lived up to the contract for the scheduled heavyweight title fight Dec. 4 at Toronto, as D'Amato has charged.

"I have received the okay on the contract from the Toronto Boxing Commission," Fuller said. "The money will be forthcoming under the terms of the contract, 10 days from the date of that approval. The date of the okay was Nov. 13 which gives me until Nov. 22."

"In actuality I feel I will come up with the money this coming Monday. I'm entirely within the agreement I made with D'Amato."

For Football Finals

Tee Vee Answer Delayed

TORONTO (CP)—A spokesman for the CBC said Thursday the corporation is preparing a new proposal dealing with television of Eastern and Western Canadian football playoffs for consideration by Jake Gaudaur, TV chairman of the Eastern Football Conference.

Gaudaur had asked the CBC to decide by noon Thursday whether it would accept his plan for joint coverage of the decisive playoff games by the CBC and by CTV, the privately-owned network operated by CFTO-TV.

Bob McGill, supervisor of outside broadcasting for the CBC, sent a telegram Thursday to Gaudaur, president and general manager of Hamilton Tiger-Cats, saying investigation of technical details was delaying a reply.

The CBC spokesman said Gaudaur's most recent proposal, made Tuesday, was that the CBC should carry western playoff games on its national TV network and eastern playoff games in western Canada only while CFTO-TV carried the eastern playoff games on its network.

The CBC spokesman said the publicly-owned corporation understood that Gaudaur's previous suggestion, made Monday, was that decisive playoff games would be permitted over the CBC's eastern network stations as well as over CFTO-TV.

Decisive games involved are the second game of the eastern Canada finals between Toronto

Argonauts and the Ticats in Hamilton Nov. 23 and the second and possibly third games of the best-of-three western finals at Winnipeg Nov. 22 and 23.

The CBC holds television rights to western playoff games and CTV holds eastern playoff rights.

Robinson is a graduate of Mount Royal College Cougars, a junior team in Calgary. He will receive the Dr. Beattie Martin trophy.

The second-place choice was Stampeder middle guard Larry Anderson. Third place went to another Calgary player, linebacker John McMurtry.

MONTREAL (UPI)—Jackie Parker and Bernie Faloney, Grey Cup teammates in 1954, Thursday were named as the west finalists in the baling for Canada's most outstanding football player award.

Parker, a three-time winner, led the Edmonton Eskimos to a second place finish in the Western Football Conference as a quarterback-halfback. Faloney, unwanted by the front office of the last place Hamilton Tiger-Cats of 1960, led his club to first place in the east this season.

In the voting for the other two Schenley awards, Hamilton tackle John Barrow and Winnipeg tackle Frank Rigney were named the best defensive ends in their respective conferences. Tony Pasickowski of Calgary and fullback-backer Bobby Kuntz of Toronto were selected the top two Canadians.

Results of the final balloting will be announced Nov. 23 in Toronto, three days before the 36th annual championship Grey Cup game. The winner of the Schenley most valuable player award will receive a $1,000 bond while the other two winners will receive $500 prizes.

Parker, a 28-year-old "Mr. Everything" and former Mississippi state all-America, just about owns the Schenley trophy. Since joining the Edmonton Eskimos in 1954, he has been either a finalist or a winner in the nationwide baling by football writers and broadcasters in the nine Canadian football league cities all but one year.

After being a runnerup in 1954-55 and '56, he won it in 1957 and '58. He lost out to teammate John Bright in 1959 but came back to win it a third time last year.

Parker, called "spaghetti legs" among several nicknames because of his long Faloney, like Parker, 29, also came out of college (Maryland) with all-American honors, and was the first draft choice of the San Francisco 49ers. He chose to sign with Pop Ivy's Edmonton Eskimos and led them to the national championship in his rookie year, 1964.

In that game against the Montreal Alouettes, Parker picked up a fumble and rushed 92 yards for the tying touchdown and Edmonton won, 26-22.

But the resultant extra point, Faloney's T formation ball-handling wizardry had ~~the~~ favored Alouettes befuddled all day.

Obtained by Hamilton in 1957 after a two-year hitch in the U.S. army, Faloney led the Tiger-Cats to the Grey Cup in 1957-58, 59 before they nose-dived to last place last year.

Which Mercury size is big enough for you?

Compact! Medium! Big! The choice is yours. Mercury is now a family of three, sized to suit you. Now, your Mercury dealer offers you power, room, economy and price—sized three ways. With Mercury, you choose a car that fits your needs precisely. Take the time to size up Mercury for yourself—and see why Mercury has the best buys in every size for 1962.

1 MERCURY COMET—the compact Mercury. Built for the family who wants a compact car that doesn't look it or act it. The new Comet is a Mercury, with fine car styling unsurpassed among compacts. New rear deck with dual tail-lights provides a flair unique in Comet's price class. And Comet's look of success hasn't gone to its price. Comet still only looks expensive.

Special Features:

Choice of new 85 hp and 101 hp "six" engines. Automatic or manual transmission.
Up to 33 miles per gallon on regular gas. Oil change cycle extended up to 6,000 miles.
New coolant lasts up to 30,000 miles.
Six people ride in comfort.
Vacation planned "big car" trunk.
9 models, including Comet's new personal compact car the S-22 with bucket seats.

2 MERCURY METEOR—the middle sized Mercury. This car is so new its unveiling will not take place until November 30. But it is so exciting, that you should know about it right now. Meteor carries on a famous Canadian name, but that's where past resemblance ends. This totally new automobile is tailored for the man who wants a bigger car than a compact—but not quite as big as a big car. Meteor is the heart of the new Mercury line.

Special Features:

Choice of new 145 hp Bantam V-8 or 101 hp "six" engines.
Complete package of self-servicing features: Oil change cycle extended up to 6,000 miles; chassis lubrications and coolant last up to 30,000 miles; self-adjusting brakes.
Luxurious 6 passenger interior.
Cushion-Link suspension for big-car ride.

3 MERCURY MONTEREY—the big Mercury. If you think big, Monterey is sized for you. Monterey is big where it counts—in comfort, in performance, in value. Combine its sofa wide seats with its elegant interior decor—and 6 people stretch out in style. The 1962 Mercury Monterey has all it takes—to take you places in a big way.

Special Features:

Engine choice—Super Economy "six" or two V-8's that include the 300 hp Marauder.
130 inch wheelbase and Cushion-Link suspension for the smoothest ride.
Complete package of self-servicing features: Oil change cycle extended up to 6,000 miles; chassis lubrication and coolant last up to 30,000 miles; self-adjusting brakes.
Big model choice of sedans, hardtops, wagons and an elegant convertible.

Scurrah Invites U.S. President To Celebrations

Mayor Percy Scurrah yesterday issued a personal invitation by phone, asking President Kennedy to visit Victoria during the city's centennial celebrations next year.

Planting To Start 'Village'

Plans which will transform Oak Bay Avenue's shopping area into a planned, tree-lined "village" will begin early in the new year with a planting program.

President Kennedy was in Seattle yesterday to address a convocation at the University of Washington.

PRIVATE SECRETARY

He was absent from his suite in the Royal Olympic hotel but Mayor Scurrah's call was taken by the president's private secretary, Mrs. Evelyn Lincoln.

ROOSEVELT LAST

Mayor Scurrah stressed that the last time a United States president visited Victoria was in 1936, when Franklin D. Roosevelt spent a day here, accompanied by Florelia La Guardia, then mayor of New York.

Mrs. Lincoln promised to convey Mayor Scurrah's invitation to President Kennedy.

Record Boom In Building

Victoria's construction boom this year has already broken the all-time record set in the 12 months of last year.

The big push which set the new record 45 days before the end of the year came yesterday with the issuing of a $10,000,000 permit for additions to Royal Jubilee Hospital.

Total value of building permits issued at city hall up to last night was in excess of $9,400,000. The record set last year was $8,333,328.

Until issuing of the Royal Jubilee Hospital permit, city building figures lagged well behind the figures for the same period last year.

Value of permits issued until the end of October was $8,739,365, compared with a total value of $7,407,604 to the end of October, last year.

"It appears we are going to hit the $10,000,000 mark in construction this year," city planner Roderick Clark predicted last night.

SHOW ACTIVITY

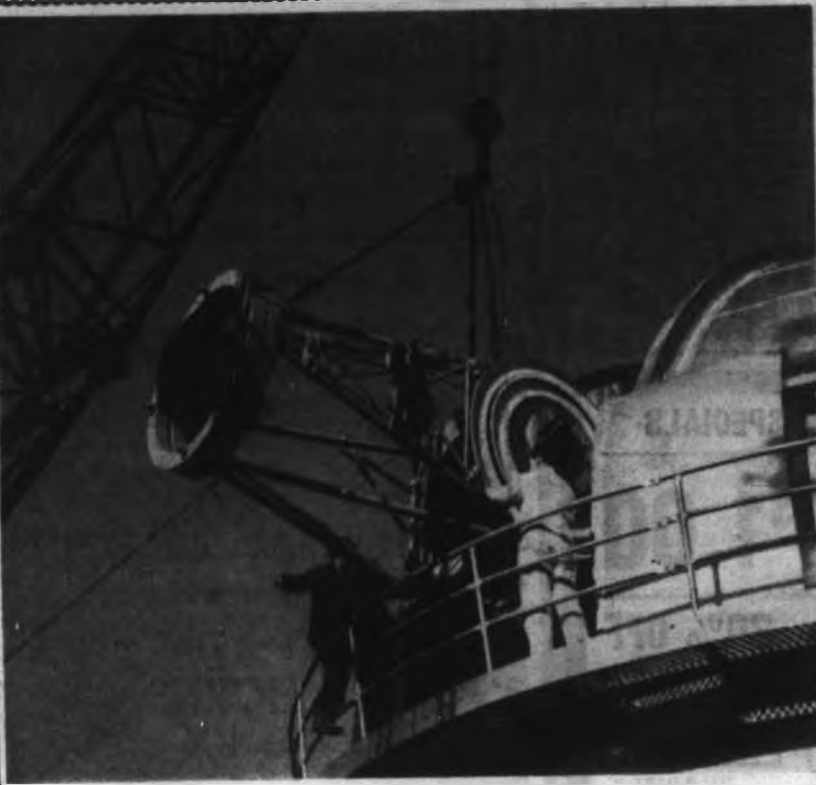

"The remaining period of this year should show the usual activity—in excess of $500,000 more—to bring the total substantially over the 1960 record."

Barge Repair Provides Jobs

Yarrows Ltd. has been awarded a $70,000 contract for repair of two ship barges owned by Vancouver Tug Boat Co. The steel-hulled vessels were damaged in a storm in Vancouver harbor two weeks ago. The job will provide 10 days work for 20 men on each barge.

Wave of Earthquakes To Be Set Off Soon

A series of artificial earthquakes will be triggered in offshore waters next Wednesday, Thursday and Friday so scientists from the Dominion Astrophysical Observatory here can study the geological structure of Vancouver Island. Seismographs will be located at Little Saanich Mountain, Alberni, Campbell River, Kelsey Bay and aboard the naval auxiliary vessel Laymore.

Aims At Star

Easy does it, as last major section of the new 48-inch telescope at Dominion Astrophysical Observatory in Saanich is swung into place yesterday. Main tube, being guided carefully through shutter in dome, holds telescope mirrors and is "aimed" at the star under study. It is housed in small dome.

After Black Ball Takeover

Prospect of New Orders Buoys Shipyard Hopes

New ferry orders from the B.C. government could save the jobs of hundreds of Greater Victoria shipyard workers this winter.

This emerged yesterday following Premier Bennett's confirmation of the government's willingness to buy Black Ball Ferries.

The premier said in Seattle the government intends to build new ships "right away" to increase the Horseshoe Bay-Nanaimo service to hourly frequency.

Harold Husband, president of Victoria Machinery Depot, said yesterday that fast action on the part of the government could bring additional work to VMD "just when we need it most."

Layoffs among 230 men employed on the third B.C. government ferry nearing completion at VMD are expected to begin in January and continue until the ship is delivered in February. The yard has no major shipbuilding work in prospect until late spring.

Suited for Nanaimo

Providing the same basic design as the Mv City of Victoria is used, however, fabrication of steel hull sections for a new ferry could be in full swing by the end of February, Mr. Husband said.

The VMD president said the vessels now used on the Swartz Bay-Taswanan service would be "admirably suited" to the Nanaimo route.

John Wallace, general manager of Yarrows Ltd., agreed no changes appeared necessary in the basic government ferry design to meet docking or other needs on the new service. "It certainly seems reasonable that the new ships should be duplicates of the ones the government now has in operation," said Mr. Wallace.

Familiar Designs

VMD and Burrard Dry Dock in Vancouver have each built two ferries for the government.

If bids are called on a similar vessel the yards' familiarity with the design would greatly reduce the time necessary for preparing bids, spokesmen said.

Delivery of steel could take between six and eight weeks after the contract is awarded.

VMD has some steel on hand, officials said, and left work could go ahead immediately the contract was awarded.

Completion time of 12 months for the first government ferry, Mv. Sidney was reduced to 10 months for the City of Victoria. This could be matched by VMD, making it possible for a new ferry to be delivered during November, 1962.

Premier Bennett said in Seattle that the government was anxious to get an hourly service going on the Nanaimo

Lot of Extra Jobs

He added: "We'll have to build new ships and build them right away."

"I don't want to say how many, but it will mean a lot of new work for our shipyards and a lot of extra jobs to operate the ferries."

Mr. Bennett termed the purchase of Black Ball Ferries, which still must receive cabinet approval, a major undertaking which would boost the economy of B.C. and open up central Vancouver Island.

The government has already announced that it will build a new ferry for its Gulf Islands service and is considering a fifth vessel for its Swartz Bay-Taswanan run.

Contracts totalling $17,500,000 are expected to be awarded to West Coast shipyards by the department of transport in the next few months.

Chamber Not Keen On Deal

Victoria's Chamber of Commerce—mulling over recently announced plans for purchase of Black Ball Ferries Ltd. by the provincial government—has decided it doesn't much like the idea.

PRIVATE REALM

In a statement last night, Chamber manager John Copping said the entry of government "into the realm of private industry" should be "restricted to those areas of public service which cannot be provided otherwise." (See stories on Page 8.)

DON'T APPLY

Turning to the $7,200,000 deal which would place Black Ball in the government's hands, Mr. Copping said "any one of a number of reasons might justify government action in this case—but none seem applicable here."

He turned next to comments from government sources to the effect that Nanaimo would receive direct benefit from the change in ownership.

HOURLY SERVICE

"It is difficult to see where any benefit will accrue to Nanaimo from this plan. The city receives almost hourly service already by existing ferries."

MEETING TODAY

"The Chamber's board of directors will consider the move today. Meanwhile, I would like to call on Premier Bennett for a full statement on the reasons which might have justified this expensive and seemingly needless further incursion into the field of ferry transportation."

Hotelman Urges:

Promote Centennary To Fair Visitors

SAM LANE

... can't sit here

Greater Victoria hotel and motel owners should get together in a united effort to sell Victoria's centennial to people attending Seattle's Century 21, a well-known hotel owner said last night.

"We can't expect to sit here and have the business drop right in our laps," Sam Lane, owner of the Olde England Inn said.

ANXIOUS TO HELP

He just returned from a meeting of the Washington Motor Hotel Association in Seattle. "The accommodation people there are anxious to help us all they can," Mr. Lane said, "but we must understand they will have the big slice of the cake."

RID FROM SOUTH

He said motel and hotel owners from as far south as Oregon are bidding for the overflow accommodation business from Century 21.

"They are organized, and we must be too if we expect to get people to come here for the centennial," Mr. Lane said.

JOIN UP

He urged hotelmen in the Greater Victoria area who are not members of some recognized hotel organization to join right away and help William Hawkins (commissioner of the Victoria and Island Publicity Bureau) to put the city centenary across at Century 21.

GREAT JOB

"He is doing a great job and can use all the financial support he can get," Mr. Lane said. "It seems to me there has been a lot of talk but no action."

As a first step toward organizing Mr. Lane suggested a survey be made of all available accommodation in the Greater Victoria area.

City Planner Attends Conference To Help Uniform Building Bylaw

City planner Roderick Clark will attend a two-day conference in Vancouver today and tomorrow to further plans of Greater Victoria municipalities to adopt a uniform building bylaw.

Mr. Clark is chairman of a special intermunicipal committee of building inspectors formed to study and report on the feasibility of adopting the National Building Code throughout Greater Victoria.

The Vancouver meeting has been arranged by the building research division of the National Research Council to review the provisions of the national code.

"Establishment of the intermunicipal committee of building inspectors will enable a uniform approach to this rather complex problem," Mr. Clark said last night.

"Representatives of builders, contractors and architects will be invited to the committee's meetings."

Chief city building inspector Alex James will attend the Vancouver conference with Mr. Clark.

Bud Bell, president of the 700 Block Yates Street Association, said yesterday arrangements for construction of the $50,000 arcade are nearing completion.

SOUTH FIRST

"We hope to have the first phase of the arcade, covering the south sidewalk, under way shortly after the holiday," Mr. Bell said.

Completion of work on the north side must await approval from several firms with out-of-town headquarters.

NO TROUBLE

"Even so, we don't anticipate any difficulty in making the necessary arrangements," he added.

Property owners participating in the scheme will be assessed $32 per front foot.

SMALLER SCALE

A similar idea—but on a smaller scale—is already being developed on Fort Street, where the sidewalk will be covered from Broad to Government.

Completion of the Fort Street project is slated for early December.

Utility Takeovers

Carry On—Strachan

The government was urged yesterday by Opposition leader Robert Strachan to carry on the policy of taking over public utilities.

Lower rates to consumers would result the same as in the B.C. Electric takeover, he said, if the government took over the gas pipeline to Van-

RECALLS STRIKE

Mr. Strachan recalled that the CCF in 1968 advocated the takeover of the Black Ball line when company operations were halted by a strike.

"Now, three years later, we find the Social Credit government accepting our policy of public ownership of utilities as being in the best interests of the public," he said.

"OOMEART"

"There is, of course, a striking contrast in the methods adopted here to compensate the shareholders of Black Ball (the Puget Sound Navigation Company) and those adopted in the B.C. Electric confiscation."

"Mr. Gunderson, who is a director of Black Ball, no doubt offered the premier his counsel in this matter," said Mr. Strachan.

Society Meets

Annual general meeting of the Victoria chapter of the Society of Architectural and Engineering Technologists of British Columbia will be held in the Douglas building on Elliot Street at 8 p.m. Monday.

Busy Bennett Barbers With U.S. Officials

Peter Bruton's NOTEBOOK

ROOM AT THE TOP: Top level talks on the Columbia River power development were held in secret by Premier Bennett and U.S. officials in Seattle yesterday.

No one was saying anything for the record but it was learned that at least one senior U.S. official made the trip here specially to talk with the premier.

Premier Bennett was coy when asked if he planned to speak to President Kennedy himself.

He was a provincial premier, he said, and he wasn't in a position to deal with international problems.

But that left the question unanswered.

Premier Bennett met with senators, power experts and lawyers here in an attempt to sell the U.S. on buying Columbia River power for five

But even if he succeeds, he still has to sell Ottawa on the idea.

MISSING PERSONS: Reporters who have at one time or another experienced the frustrations of too much red tape and officialdom connected with royal tours of Canada breathed a lot easier when they saw the plans for the arrival of President Kennedy in Seattle.

Their joy was short-lived.

The bus they were on, along with 27 local U.S. pressmen, got its orders mixed up and missed the whole parade into the heart of Seattle.

BUS STOP: Newsmen who travelled out to Boeing field for the arrival of President Kennedy yesterday became irritated when the U.S. army bus provided for them was delayed in leaving for about 20 minutes. Finally one exasperated reporter screamed: "Take us to our leader."

SEGN IN PASSING: In the U.S. Island courthouse in Seattle is a large black arrow pointing down a corridor, and beneath it the words "Secret Service."

FLIGHT PATTERN: "Wherever President Kennedy travels round the States the airlines provide free transportation for the Washington press corps accompanying him.

The airlines figure this is good for public relations and really roll out the red carpet for the newsmen.

Yesterday one Washington reporter asked for a sandwich during the flight west.

"What?" said the stewardess. "Eat on an empty stomach? Don't be silly. Here, have some champagne."

NEWS MAKE NEWS: A Seattle printer who shares the same name with President Kennedy had a large sign over his downtown store—"John Kennedy, printer, welcomes John Kennedy, president."

Your Problems

By Ann Landers

Dear Ann Landers: Do I have the right to walk out on my husband? Here's the story:

Scotty and I have been married for six years. We have two children. I've worked part-time as a waitress and have made good money.

Down at the plant where Scotty works there is always a floating crap game. When we got married he promised he'd stay out of the games, and he's been pretty good about it.

I've been using my tips for almost two years so we could buy a new car. Last week when I counted the money there was over $1,000 in the cookie tin. Tonight I went to add another $15 and the tin was empty. Scotty admitted that he had awfully lucky yes-ay and took the money. Of course he lost it.

Am I justified in leaving him?—FAYE.

Dear Faye: A woman who is so stupid she would leave $1,000 in a cookie tin deserves what you got.

Of course your husband did a rotten thing, but what would be gained by leaving him? You would succeed only in depriving your children of a father. Have you ever heard of a bank?

Dear Ann Landers: During the month of July I went to visit my cousin. She is exactly my age, 15, and I had not seen her for six years. I planned to stay there two weeks but seven days was all I could take. Karen smokes and drinks. Her friends are roughnecks who drive wild and use bad language. She never cleaned her room once in the week I was there. When her mother mentioned it she told her to "Shut up."

Yesterday I received a letter from Karen saying she wants to spend Christmas vacation with me. I don't want her here. What shall I do?—NO KISSIN' KIN.

Dear Kin: Say No. Since it's apparent you have little in common with this girl why try to entertain her? She wouldn't fit in with your friends any better than you fit in with hers.

Dear Ann Landers: What do you think should be done in a case like this? I've never heard of a similar incident so we have nothing to go by.

Our daughter was asked to be a bridesmaid by a very close friend. All the plans for the wedding were set and the five bridesmaids ordered their dresses and headpieces and had their slippers dyed to match their gowns. The bride, of course, selected everything and as is the custom, each bridesmaid paid for her own outfit.

Yesterday (ten days before the wedding) the bride's fiancé got his army orders and the couple decided to call off the marriage. The bridesmaids are stuck with their outfits. Do you feel they should ask the bride to reimburse them?—P.H.E.

Dear P.H.E.: It would be generous indeed if the bride offered, but since no offer was made, it should not be suggested. A seamstress can remake a bridesmaid's dress so that it can be used as a party gown. The investment is not totally lost.

Actress-Decorator Likes Dining Room

NEW YORK (UPI) — Do you'd rather die than move, ladies?

Then be glad you aren't Susan Wilding, who has lived in 76 different apartments and houses in London in the past 18 years and now is embarking on a career as a prime mover in New York.

Moving is part of a lucrative decorating business headed by the stylish blonde wife of actor

Michael Wilding, who is now appearing in "Mary, Mary" on Broadway. She rents or buys residences, moves in to decorate and furnish them, then moves out to make way for tenants and buyers.

One of her renters was Wilding, who took an apartment in Kensington for the run of a London play, wooed his landlady and won her.

She has spent as much as $300,000 on a property (silk wall coverings, gold bathroom fixtures, white carpets) and gets commensurate rentals.

Mrs. Wilding used to hoard her candy money when she was a child to buy paper decorations to brighten her room. She was married three times prior to Wilding and lavished her talents on her town houses and country estates. Designer-photographer-author Cecil Beaton encouraged her to go into the field professionally.

"He warned me not to go to a decorating school," she recalled. "He said I did so many things a decorator wouldn't be taught to do that formal study would be dangerous."

She thinks one of the best apartments she decorated was one for the late Tyrone Power in London. He moved in before it was completed because he was afraid someone else would rent it. She remembers film star Robert Mitchum fondly as her best tenant "because he kept the house so beautifully" and Jayne Mansfield as her

"If American women wonder what I consider most important in providing a beautiful setting for a family, it is a dining room," she said. "Comfortable dining and good conversation that goes with it are something that just can't be bought with money. It's something every cultured person should want."

Mrs. Butterfield noticed the larger stores where "the clerks seem to be interested in your needs and have time to help you make your selections."

Northern Women's Institutes Stimulate Community Life

OTTAWA (CP) — Women's Institutes are noted for the wide scope of their activities but few can claim to promote the sale of moose hide cushions, repair the leaky roof of the town meeting place or sponsor a sourdough shindig. These are some of the more unusual activities reported by the five Women's Institutes in the Canadian north.

Founded a year ago with the co-operation of the department of northern affairs, four WIs in the Mackenzie District of the Northwest Territories are busy sponsoring social and educational projects. The fifth northern WI, organized five years ago in Haines Junction, Yukon, has successfully campaigned for a school, community hall and library and sponsored bonspiels.

The success of the northern WIs, including two inside the

HOW TO STOP LOOKING OLDER THAN YOUR BIRTHDAYS

What makes a woman's face age prematurely—with crow's feet, little lines, roughness? The answer is skin dryness, a condition caused by harsh weather, overexposed skin, low-fat diets, etc. If this is your problem, you need Pond's DRY SKIN CREAM. This famous cream, now with Allantoin, starts to repair dry skin in just 10 minutes! Allantoin floats off lifeless surface skin cells, opens the way for swift penetration of Pond's rich moisturized lanolin to thirty tissues far below. Arctic Circle, is related in Citizen, a publication of the citizenship department.

The magazine says the women's groups have done much to stimulate community life in the isolated northern settlements and it improved relations between whites and Indians and Eskimos.

WI AT INUVIK

The newest WI in the north, and also the most northerly of the 4,000 institutes in Canada, operates at Inuvik, N.W.T., the government's new administrative centre in the Mackenzie River delta near the Arctic coast.

The other northern institutes are in Fort McPherson, south of Akkivik and inside the Arctic Circle, and Discovery and Fort Province, both in the Great Slave Lake area.

The institutes have organized handicraft projects, hobby and fashion shows, health lectures and recreational programs.

The Fort Providence WI opened a club house in a vacant log cabin with a leaky roof after raising money for the renovations. The group also started a library with books from institutes in the provinces.

Considerable attention is being given to the sale of handicrafts, ranging from beaded moccasins to gull belts. The institutes found that the women of the north have a common interest in handicrafts which serves as a starting point for getting a mixed group working together.

A Breath for Relic of Reef

Sun Bathes Wreck of Thiepval for Rubber-Suited Adventurers

By CAL SMITH

The Broken Group, a large group of islands jammed into the northern approach of the Alberni Canal, is a navigator's nightmare that has accounted for more than its share of the 800 large ships, and countless numbers of smaller craft, that have met their doom in Vancouver Island waters.

In September, 1930, the Thiepval, a naval vessel attached to the fisheries department, entered the treacherous passage now named after it, and ran aground of a submerged reef. Luckily, all hands were rescued before the metal-hulled ship settled to the bottom.

When Pete Campbell and Al Peterson, two Port Alberni divers, invited me to accompany them to the sunken ship, we set out aboard the Norada with eight other divers and their equipment. Four hours later we entered Thiepval Passage.

Lying on her side, the Thiepval looked like an integral part of the reef. The metal plates of her hull had long since become overgrown with sea-life until she blended almost perfectly with her surroundings when viewed from above.

The deck, lying perpendicular to the bottom, appeared like a steep cliff, from which grew jagged branches of coral-covered iron superstructure. Every railing, like most exposed parts of the ship, was coated with a living crust of worm-coral, sea anemones and seaweed.

Wolf eels were abundant. As usual, rock fish and ling cod were well represented among the inhabitants of the wreck; as were the most unusual—ratfish.

The eerie feelings that usually accompany me aboard sunken ships were strangely absent in the clear water of the reef. Even the task of entering the deep blackness of a companionway held little dread, with the sunlight eliminating shadows so effectively.

We found nothing of value aboard the wreck. The compasses, binnacle and some of the ship's dishes had been removed by some previous diver, but the safe was thought to be still aboard. George Geddes and Bob Porter, with a powerful underwater light, spent much of their diving time searching for it, but found nothing more than a few porthole glasses in the spare parts locker.

Mounted on the foredeck we found a three-inch cannon, completely encrusted with sea life except for the forward 10 inches of the barrel which was bare and rusty. Later, aboard the Norada, Doug Evans and George Kerzinger claimed to have found some ammunition for it, but wisely decided against bringing it up.

With so many divers spread throughout the vessel, air bubbles streamed mysteriously through the bed of seaweed that grew from the steel hull; and the Thiepval had her first breath of air in 31 years.

Instant Smoke Screen

OTTAWA (CP)—The Canadian Army is conducting trials of a modern-day chain mail designed to protect soldiers against the terrible heat of a nuclear blast.

Soldiers are wearing the fish-net like material over their regular uniforms to see how cumbersome or awkward it might prove under battlefield conditions.

PUFF OF SMOKE

The material was developed by scientists of the defence research chemical laboratories at nearby Shirley Bay. When it is exposed to intense heat it gives off a puff of smoke which shields the soldier's uniform from the heat rays.

Without the protection of the material, the heat would burn a hole right through the back and incinerate the wearer.

WITHIN SECOND

The material produces the puff of smoke within a fraction of a second when subjected to a heat of 30 calories a square centimetre. This is the intensity of heat which would be expected from a nuclear detonation at a distance at which radiation would not be lethal.

WEAPONS, TOO

As a comparison, a first-degree burn on the body is produced by two calories a square centimetre, a third-degree burn by five.

The material developed by the Defence Research Board could be draped over weapons and equipment as well as personnel.

Gaglardi's Suggestion 'Endangers' Patrols

NANAIMO—Highways Minister Gaglardi has given his answer to worried parents near Mount Benson School whose children endanger their lives by crossing a 60-mile-an-hour highway. He suggested using a school patrol.

But a school spokesman says the highway is too dangerous for a school patrol. He said the patrol would have to stand at the side of the highway, running a risk from passing cars.

Lack Standards

Indians Prone To Accidents

VANCOUVER (CP)—Out-of-proportion native Indian accident rates are related to below-average educational, economic and social standards, a Nanaimo zone Indian Health Services officer said yesterday.

Dr. Nicholas Schmitt told the British Columbia Safety Conference the Indian accident rate is related to a much lesser degree, if at all, to racial factors.

The Indians, who represent two per cent of the province's population, accounted for almost 10 per cent of accident fatalities in B.C. during the last three years, he said.

Dr. Schmitt said most of the deaths occur in the young and healthy.

"In 1950 and 1960, in the age group one to 40 years, accidents caused more deaths in Indians than all other causes combined."

He described Indians as an accident-prone ethnic group.

A regional committee had been formed, he said, to work out a specific program for effective control and prevention of accidents.

A Canadian Insurance official said young people should be taught the height of real adventure is something other than "the daring operation of an automobile."

J. B. Humphrey of Toronto mentioned an alarming situation in which the under-25 male driver accident rate in B.C. is not only increasing but involves more serious accidents.

However he said the province shows a better accident frequency than the national average.

He said there is no wish to curb the spirit of adventure in young people but it needs to be channelled along constructive lines.

Chief solicitor John Berry for the Workers' Compensation Board said jobs are only as safe as the worker makes them.

School 'Luxury' Buses Upset Nanaimo Dealers

NANAIMO—Nanaimo automobile dealers have charged that city school buses are "luxury" vehicles.

A three-man delegation from the dealers told school trustees they did not follow accepted rules of tendering for the buses.

Engineer James Thorpe refuted the statements. He said "I would rather err in overspending than in underspending; it is better to spend money than to spend lives."

Automobile dealers' spokesman Max Blunt said the new buses are luxury vehicles, and said the added features on them are not needed on buses which travel only 12,000 miles a year on good roads.

He claimed the school trustees bought foreign buses, when Canadian buses are actually cheaper. The alleged "luxury" apparently consists of air brakes.

Marion Ricker, school board chairman, said the school district needs 67-passenger buses, which are not made in Canada.

Canada—as these brand new citizens have discovered for themselves—is a state of mind and a feeling of allegiance rather than just a place to live. Lars and Helvi Klevstad, shown left as they fill in application forms, studied for many hours and waited for five long years before the great day came. Yesterday, with Lars and 23 other citizenship candidates watching, Mrs. Klevstad renounced her allegiance to Sweden—land of her birth. Finally, Bible in hand, she approached Judge Clearhous for the oath of allegiance. Climax of the brief ceremony in Victoria's courthouse yesterday came immediately after the swearing-in ceremony. As Mrs. Klevstad and the other new citizens completed the oath, each was handed a certificate of Canadian citizenship. — (Colonist photo.)

Immigrant of Past Grooms New Citizens

Twenty-five new Canadians were welcomed to citizenship yesterday by a woman whose memories of her immigration 50 years ago are still vivid.

The new citizens took an oath of allegiance and received their certificates from Judge J. A. Clearhous in County Court chambers yesterday.

They were given a cordial welcome to their new status by Mrs. William Stewart, who came with her husband as a bride from Scotland to Alberta's Peace River country half a century ago.

Mrs. Stewart and chairman Miss Helen Murray represented the University Women's Club at the ceremony, organized by the Victoria Citizenship Council.

New Canadians sworn in yesterday were:

Mrs. Melitta Amering, 405 St. Charles; Mrs. Anna Bennischek, 830 Old Esquimalt; Dietrich and Vera Renate Berger, 4942 McLellan; Bastian Bullenady, 1345 Sidney; Eugene Furtner, 1345 Sidney.

Knowles May Run

OTTAWA (CP) — Stanley Knowles, a CCF member of the Commons for 16 years until 1958, and now a Canadian Labor Congress executive, indicated Thursday he is considering running in the next federal election as a New Democratic Party candidate.

TORONTO, November 16th — Autumn's cool, invigorating days make for bigger and better breakfasts... and I know just the perfect breakfast to satisfy them! Begin every brisk November morning with big bowl of my special RED RIVER CEREAL. A real flavour favourite with all the family and thoroughly satisfying too! You see, Red River is a wholesome blend of cracked wheat, rye and flax. Youngsters and active adults need its extra energy value... and, of course, it's nature's mild regulator. Do serve it tomorrow! It takes just a few minutes to prepare the best hot breakfast there is... Red River Cereal!

DWELLING PLACES ARE LIKE CHILDREN, they need to be washed and cleaned, repaired and tended if they are to look their best and be a credit to you. Whether you own your own home, a block of flats or an apartment building, it makes good sense to keep your property as attractive as you keep yourself and your family. Don't let lack of ready cash delay those repairs or improvements... Talk to the people at your neighbourhood BANK OF MONTREAL branch about a low-cost Home Improvement Loan. And now's the time to work on your property... when skilled workers are available.

DOING MORE ENTERTAINING THESE DAYS? I think most of us are looking for a jump in our food budgets now that party season is here. Well, here's a way to make your budget look better. Use BLUE BONNET MARGARINE instead of that costly spread now on your table. You'll be surprised at the difference you make — and delighted with Blue Bonnet. Because it's an all-vegetable margarine, it's both delicious and nutritious. Everytime you cook and bake, it adds a special flavour. Discover for yourself how Blue Bonnet makes just about everything taste better!

YOU'LL SAY 'DELICIOUS!' when you taste this delightfully different vegetable... LIBBY'S RAUER-KRAUT. Its crisp, mellow flavour is always just right... and what's more, it's one of the most healthful and economical dishes you can serve. Delicious when served cold in salads or sandwiches, or hot with meat. But be sure not to overcook it — just warm it through. This way you'll preserve the healthful goodness of its lactic acid content. High in vitamins, low in calories and low in cost... Libby's Rauer-Kraut is what I'd call a real 'bargain' in good health and flavour!

HERE'S MY SECRET IN WINNING THE "WAR" against stubborn grease that licks in every drain. Use GILLET'S DRAIN CLEANER once a week... every week. Why? Because liquid drain-cleaning chemicals are flaky, musty, they permit breed in... it takes the special cleaning, boiling action of Gillet's Drain Cleaner to quickly and completely scour out every trace of the germ-breeding mass that collects in the clogged-up drain. And besides being fast and thorough, Gillet's Drain Cleaner is an easy in use... just 2 tablespoons in every drain once a week does the trick!

Tocsin B Bizarre Declares Douglas

TORONTO (CP) — Tocsin B, Canada's civil defence exercise, was a bizarre performance designed to divert attention from the government's lack of civil defence or nuclear weapons policy, T. C. Douglas, New Democratic party leader, said Wednesday night.

Mr. Douglas said if the government believes there is danger of a nuclear war it should assist in building public shelters.

He said Prime Minister Diefenbaker had taken the stand that an attack on Berlin would be an attack on Canada.

Mr. Douglas said neither parliament nor legislation is the road to peace. The United Nations should be reconstituted

School Bomb Threat Has 13,000 Running

BRANTFORD (CP) — Llewellyn Depew, 19-year-old student at Brantford Collegiate Institute, was charged last night with public mischief in connection with a bomb scare yesterday that resulted in the evacuation of the city's 13,000 school children.

An anonymous caller telephoned police at noon and said "a school will be blown up in 40 minutes."

Police to Question Alberta Fugitives

VANCOUVER (CP) — Four British Columbia detectives have left for the Prairies to question four Alberta prison fugitives captured here last month in connection with the gangland-style slaying of a fifth fugitive.

The shotgun-blinded body of Roderick Chief, 25, was found late Wednesday in a shallow grave on a North Burnaby waterfront hillside, about three-quarters of a mile east of Vancouver's Second Narrows bridge.

Police arrested two young women for questioning yesterday. The women were believed to have been drinking with Chief shortly before he was killed, police said.

Two members of the Vancouver force and two RCMP officers have flown to the Prairies, meanwhile, to interview the four men who escaped with Chief from Calgary's Spy Hill jail Oct. 7.

One of the women arrested in Vancouver is believed to be related to Donald Harry Everett, one of the fugitives.

Sources at police headquarters yesterday said Vancouver police got a tip a month ago there had been a murder soon after the men escaped from Spy Hill.

Officers said Chief's body was ripped almost in half by a gun blast to the abdomen.

Operator Fined

Slot Machines Seized By Plainclothes Police

John Jensen, owner and operator of the Alberta newsstand, 614 Yates Street, was fined $200 yesterday in city police court by Magistrate William Ostler after being convicted of running a common gaming house.

Jensen entered a plea of not guilty through his counsel, Edmond de St. Jorre.

Police Sgt. John Perry said he went to the newsstand on Oct. 19 and had Const. William Macfarlane in plainclothes play the pinball machines.

Macfarlane played for 90 minutes and ran up four free games.

Then he asked accused to be paid in lieu of the free games. He received 20 cents. Macfarlane signalled to Perry and told Jensen that the machines were to be seized.

The machines were taken to the police station where it was found the odds increased corresponding to the number of coins that were inserted.

Prosecutor Angus Smith contended the machines came under the legal definition of slot machines as the odds changed when more coins were placed in the slot.

A further hearing will be held to decide whether the slot machines will be confiscated.

Hardware Worth $44 Nets Man One Year

Fred Basanta, no fixed address, was sentenced to one year in jail in Saanich police court yesterday after pleading guilty to a charge of false pretences.

Det. Sgt. Joseph Armstrong told the court Basanta telephoned the Royal Oak Hardware last June 21, said he was living at an address on Dysart, and ordered materials worth $43.98 to be sent out.

Basanta did not live at the address. The materials were never paid for, or recovered.

Halloween Treat Poisoned

PETERBOROUGH (CP) — Police will try to retrace the shell-out route taken by 11-year-old Paul Walsh who was given Halloween candy loaded with rat poison.

Mrs. Veronica Walsh said her son became "deathly sick" after he ate some of the poisoned candy. A report showed it had been spread with alphanaphthylthiourea, a type of rat poison.

Big Changes Due in Zoning Bylaw

Central Saanich municipality has given two readings to a "subdivision-control bylaw" drafted by Capital Region Planning Board.

But Central Saanich Reeve R. Gordon Lee hinted strongly last night that substantial changes will be made in the bylaw before it passes third and final reading.

"We've been getting quite a few protests about it," he said.

The bylaw, which passed second reading at a Central Saanich council meeting Tuesday, would divide the municipality into four zones:

- Residential areas in which the minimum size of lots would be 1,200 square feet, with 75-foot frontage.
- Residential areas in which the minimum size would be six-tenths of an acre, frontage 95 feet.
- Semi-rural areas in which the minimum size for a lot would be three acres.
- Farms of a minimum acreage of six acres.

"DON'T LIKE IDEA"

Said Reeve Lee: "People who feel they have very desirable building property don't like the idea that they will be prevented from subdividing some time in the future."

"Will they accept the notion of their rights on their property being at least temporarily taken away from them?"

"We feel that the council should consider these matters very carefully. We must have some degree of regulation with a minimum amount of hardship for the property owners, and that's not going to be too easy."

"People are coming into the municipal office and registering protests... In my opinion, certain amendments to the present form of the bylaw will have to be made, before it will be considered for its first and final reading."

Huff Over Puff

SACRAMENTO, Calif. — Substitute teacher Ernest Bury, 30, thought the most scientific way to demonstrate the evils of tobacco to eighth graders would be to let them puff a cigaret.

Bury, who doesn't smoke, borrowed a cigaret from a student at Jonas Salk School and suggested each child take a puff.

About half the class of 30 tried it. One girl got queasy and complained to the principal, who called superintendent F. J. Kiesel. He fired Bury.

"Allowing youngsters to smoke is certainly contrary to the teaching of morals to children and is deeply regretted," said Kiesel.

MANILA — Diosdao Macapagal, 51-year-old vice-president, defeated President Carlos Garcia in a hard-fought campaign for the presidency of the Philippines.

HARROW, England — Sir Winston Churchill sang with tears in his eyes the old songs of his old school and the boys he joined in song also wept. He made his annual sentimental journey to Harrow for the traditional "sing."

OSLO — Norwegian anti-German demonstrators held up West German Defence Minister Franz Josef Strauss for 25 minutes as he drove into Oslo for talks with Norwegian military officials.

ACCRA — Queen Elizabeth and Prince Philip drove through searing heat to see Ghana's brand-new seaport and the site of the giant Volta River dam.

Banners reading "Hearty Welcome Lizzie" greeted them at Tema.

LONDON — John Read, 43, sentenced to six months in jail for stealing an empty beer barrel told the judge, "I thought it was a full one."

PARIS — Dirk Stikker, 64, secretary-general of NATO, surprised a burglar in his hotel room. The prowler sped off with official papers, which were later recovered.

LONDON — Princess Margaret and her 13-day-old son are "fit and well," according to Clarence House sources.

LONDON — Marjorie Steele, 31, former wife of American millionaire George Huntington Hartford, was married to young British actor Dudley Sutton, 29, here and lost about $60,000 a year in alimony.

BELGRADE — Britain's Lord Privy Seal, Edward Heath, arrived for a four-day official visit at the invitation of the Yugoslav government.

KITIMAT — George Mason of Montreal, technical director of the smelter division of the Aluminum Company of Canada, says there is every reason to believe world markets for aluminum will increase.

NEW YORK — Nobel prize winners Dr. Albert Schweitzer, Lord Bertrand Russell, French author Francois Mauriac, British physiologist Lord Boyd-Orr, and German physicist Max Born appeared in a letter to President Kennedy not to resume U.S. nuclear tests in the atmosphere.

Other signers were cellist Pablo Casals, Israeli philosopher Martin Buber, Dr. Brock Chisholm of Canada, Canon L. J. Collins of England, and C. Rajagopalachari of India.

LONDON — Field Marshal Viscount Montgomery was fined £10 ($28) after he pleaded guilty to driving without due care and attention and going the wrong way up a one-way street.

Violets Need Light

By M. V. CHENUT, FRES

Quite a spate of letters on African violets has been reaching my desk lately as more and more readers take up the fascinating hobby of growing these durable and undemanding plants. As answering all these letters individually is getting to be quite a time-consuming chore, it occurred to me to pick out a few of the most commonly-asked questions and discuss them—it might take some of the pressure off!

Which exposure is best — north, east, south or west?

Any window can be used if you handle it correctly. A north window is very good if the glass is clean and the plant close to the uncurtained pane but, if the window is screened in summer, the plant may not receive enough light—it is surprising how much the light value can be cut down by a fly screen.

It isn't too hard to tell when a plant isn't getting enough light, however, for the leaf stems grow abnormally long, the plant quits blooming and it takes on a more upright appearance as the foliage reaches for the light.

Uncurtained east and west windows are usually satisfactory but may be too bright at certain seasons of the year. Unobstructed sunlight through a south window is almost always too bright for plants on or close to the window sill. However, African violets put up unmistakable signals when the sunlight is too strong—the leaves turn a very light green, almost bleached-looking—and the remedy is simple. Put up a thin curtain or move the plants further back into the room.

Just what temperature do African violets like?

They perform best in a range of from 65 to 70 during the day with a drop of not more than 10 degrees at night. Somewhat cooler temperatures do not hurt the plant but slow down growth and inhibit flower production. Higher temperatures are tolerated if accompanied by high humidity, as in summer, but high indoor temperatures in winter are almost always accompanied by a lowering of atmospheric moisture and African violets detect dry air, showing their resentment by slowing up growth and foregoing bloom.

There isn't much you can do to increase humidity outside of revamping the heating system of the house. One violet fan of my acquaintance shifts her plants to the bathroom during periods of low humidity — these are times when there is a very wide spread between indoor and outdoor temperatures — and while they suffer a little from the rather poor light in the bathroom, they revel in the warm, steamy air, like that of their native East African mountain-side home.

Another way of coaxing your violets through the times when the indoor air is desert-dry is to spray the leaves once or twice a day with a fine mist of plain warm water. Don't be afraid of wetting the leaves. Large, cold drops of water will put queer-looking Chinese laundry marks on the foliage, but it is the low temperature and chilling of the leaf tissues that does the damage rather than the wet. A fine spray of warm water is most beneficial. Just keep the plants out of direct sunshine until the leaves are dry.

How can you clean the leaves? Use a soft, clean brush. A small, new, paint brush is good, or a lady's complexion brush or an infant's hair brush. Support each leaf with your hand under it as you stroke the upper surface in the direction in which the leaf hairs grow—that is, from the base toward the point of the leaf.

We'll discuss soil, potting, watering and feeding in future columns.

Money's Safe After 'Bang'

PARIS—We are indebted to the American news magazine "U.S. News and World Report," which devoted four pages of their Nov. 13 issue to a subject dear to the hearts of all of us. It was titled: "If Bombs Do Fall: What Happens to Your Savings? Property? Investments? Look Beyond a Possible H-Bomb Strike against the U.S. Would Millions Find Their Assets—Stocks, Cash, Titles to Homes—Valueless? How Would Reconstruction Costs Be Met?"

The article went on to say, "At a time of growing nuclear threat people are wondering: If I survived an attack, what would happen to my life's savings and investments?"

"An all-out nuclear war by some official estimates would kill at least 60,000,000 Americans—one-third of the population. Property damage in the U.S. might reach $400,000,000,000, with such devastation now possible, many people are asking: How can I protect my assets? Should I make changes in my stock holdings? Is there more safety in government bonds? Would life insurance have any value? What about my savings if my bank went up in smoke?"

"U.S. News and World Report" sent out their men to find the answers and, by heaven, they did. They talked to U.S. federal agencies and officials and came away with a picture much brighter than one would think. For one thing, the U.S. government is thinking in terms of what would happen after World War III (on the assumption, of course, that the U.S. won).

The magazine advises readers not to hold on to or bury cash because with strict rationing the usefulness of money might be limited, and besides the U.S. government has no intention of compensating anyone who loses money in a nuclear attack.

Stocks are another matter. One should keep records of his stock and follow usual investment policies. "Nobody can predict," the article says, "Which plants would or would not be destroyed."

Holders of U.S. government bonds will be among the first paid, but insurance companies would have difficulty in paying off their vast claims so the federal government would have to step in with stretched-out payments.

Nothing to worry about with banks. Even if a bank is destroyed, the article says there is a plan to pay off depositors.

"Piling up jewels to use in barter after an attack," the article continues, "is not advised by the government."

The main point is to keep all financial records in survival kits or fallout shelters so that you'll know what you have when you come out after the big bang is over.

After reading the piece, we were quite cheered up to know that someone is thinking about our investments, while those of us with small minds can think about nothing except the possibility of war.

We were also cheered up by the news that military planners felt that in case of nuclear war the country that climbed back on its feet first would win, and there was even a deterrent (ah, what a wonderful word that is becoming in Washington) in being ready to spring back after an attack.

By INA D. D. UNTHOFF

It is due to the generosity of the Canada Council that it has been made possible for Colin Graham to assemble so large, varied and valuable a collection of paintings, furniture, tapestries, silver, glass, enamels and ceramics, as in the present exhibition "From the Age of Elegance."

During the summer months he visited all the leading galleries in Eastern Canada and the United States with this objective.

He was delighted with the response he received, and loans followed, far beyond anything that had been visualized.

Privately-run galleries also contributed and offerings from well-known collectors were immediate and generous. The Vancouver Art Gallery loaned some of its more treasured paintings.

The occasion of this special exhibition is to mark the 10th anniversary of the move into the Spencer mansion, 1040 Moss, so generously given by Miss Sara Spencer, staunch supporter and friend from the beginning of the art gallery movement.

To go into the gallery just now makes one think of the days when life moved at a serene and dignified pace.

Beautiful furniture, paintings and silver were part of the pattern. Family portraits, richly framed, created a suitable background.

clans, they represented the history of the family. It was an age of elegance.

Many of the 18th century portraits are romantic in feeling and combine well with the graceful design of the furniture, but Sir Henry Raeburn's portrait of William Darnell is a powerful painting, fresh and vigorous, a fine example of straightforward painting and strong characterization.

In the landscapes, there is a very good Canaletto "The Piazzetta, Venice" and two paintings of ruins by Francesco Guardi.

"The Boy in the Green Coat" by William Hogarth is extremely interesting.

As the collection is so extensive it requires several visits to get any idea of its unusual quality.

HOLLYWOOD (NANA)—Darryl Zanuck is taking good care of his new protegee, 25-year-old redhead Irma Demich. He was worried she might catch cold during a scene in "The Longest Day" where she has to fall into the water. He had a special insulated suit built to be worn under her dress.

Anthony Quayle, shuddering slightly as he recalled his time Jordan with "Lawrence of Arabia," told me: "We were so dehydrated by the heat that every member of the cast and crew drank 32 glasses of water a day."

It's incredible, but true. Several business houses in Rome are trying to abolish the siesta. I hope they won't succeed. From 2 to 4 p.m. is the only safe time to be in a taxi in Rome, which is becoming more and more Americanized. They have bowling alleys, frozen foods in the new American-style supermarkets, you see motels everywhere, and they serve the same purpose they do in America.

The girl who stars in "Damon and Pythias," Liana Ortel, plays a lion tamer and is a good casting. Liana first appeared in a circus at the age of 2½. Her father, a clown, used to pull her out of his pocket to the delighted squeals of the kids in the audience.

Optimistic Robert Wagner told me he still has a chance to star with Frank Sinatra in "The Manchurian Candidate." "Larry Harvey has so many pictures on his schedule, I don't think he will have time for it." Last I heard of the project, Larry was disappointed at some of the script changes, but his role is still terrific and I doubt that he will back out.

If Suzy Parker is having a romance with Brad Dillman, as reported, it doesn't show. Suzy is now in Hollywood starring in "The Interns," but Brad hasn't yet visited her on the set. "I'm hoping to be home in New York for the holidays," says Suzy. Meanwhile she is living in an apartment rented from Loretta Young's mother.

When to Fish or Hunt

SOLAR TABLES

FAN FARE

By Walt Dittman

OUTDOORS with Alec Merriman

Goldstream is just black with spawning salmon. This is the weekend to visit Goldstream to see the death run of the salmon, but don't expect to just walk out on the bridge, as has been the practice in previous years, to see the fish. The holding pools have gone.

We tramped the river yesterday morning from the canyon beside the highway to the mouth and found salmon everywhere, and they were piling up at any point where any kind of a river pool was starting to form. There is now a good path down both sides of the river and if you tramp along the river bank you will be sure to see hundreds and hundreds of coho and dog salmon.

One of the nasty and illegal practices of fishermen at this time of the year is to catch the salmon as they near the spawning beds, just to get their salmon eggs for steelhead fishing. Anyone seen at this should be reported to authorities. It is legal to fish for the coho while they are still fresh in the river and will take a lure, but it is not legal to take dog salmon or to jig or spear any salmon, except by Indians who are given special permission as their traditional right.

Besides, it is not necessary to rob the spawning beds of the salmon eggs which will produce the salmon of the future. Preserved and frozen salmon eggs can be purchased.

The trout—rainbows, browns and cutthroats—showed up at the top end of the Cowichan, in the reach above Art Hancock, on Wednesday and were still being caught on salmon eggs, fished along the bottom, yesterday.

Somenos Lake has been giving up some good trout. Campbell Lakes and Fry Lake have been good. Oyster River has been fair, late summer run steelhead are still coming from China Creek, Stamp and Ash Rivers in the Alberni, mouth of the Taylor on Sproat Lake is still good for cutthroats. Harris Creek and San Juan have been producing a few early steelies.

On the saltwater scene it is buckailing time for big grise in Saanich Inlet, with good concentrations of 14 and 15 inches all down Pinlayson Arm from Chesterfield to the Stone House, off the Boulder and McKenzie Bay and in Semanus Island waters.

It should still be possible to pick up a coho in Cowichan Bay, but this will probably be the last weekend for that fishing. Bluebacks are now being taken at Crofton. Pedder Bay and Brothie Lodge waters are still giving good winter spring salmon fishing.

Deer hunters are starting the last big push for their winter meat with doe season now in north of the Koksilah River, but still more than a week away in the south of the Koksilah and Salt Spring hunting areas.

Largest deer recorded so far this year for the Sylvester U-Drive trophy is a 240-pounder, shot in the Sayward area Sunday by Arnie Elliott, 3023 Rodaga Road.

In fish and game club circles, Dave Wigmore has won his gold button with a 183½-pounder from Cayuse area. Silver button winners include Jack Starck, 179 pounds; Cliff Soady, 177 pounds; F. E. Rowe, 168 pounds; L. E. Hamilton, 161 pounds; Ed Pugh, 161 pounds; C. R. James, 160 pounds; Cliff Cox, 160 pounds.

Bronze button winners so far include V. Holesdroff, 158 pounds; Wilf Heal, 152 pounds; J. R. Smith, 149 pounds; E. L. Jensen, 149 pounds; Harry Lundblad, 147 pounds; Konrad Samer, 147 pounds; William Bond, 145 pounds; Sam Doupe, 143 pounds and Stan Smith, 141½ pounds.

Victoria Fish and Game Protective Association is now looking for donations of game meat—moose, venison, caribou, bear, sheep and salmon—for its annual game dinner and those with something to donate should phone Bill James at GR 8-1891.

The fish and game club's ham and turkey shoot will be at the Goldstream grounds Dec. 9 and 10.

Nov. 20 will be Boone and Crockett night at the fish and game club and Jonas Brothers, of Seattle, manager of the largest taxidermy firm in North America and an official of the Boone and Crockett Club will be guest speaker. Club members in possession of probable trophy heads are asked to take them to the meeting for weighing and judging. There will be a film on Kodak bear hunting.

BOSTON — Montreal Canadiens are not being the same fearsome aggregation away from home that they are in Montreal Forum.

Away from their rabid fans, the National Hockey League champions look no better than their five rivals. Last night at Kenney spun quickly in a half circle with a defender draped over him and fared a wide-angle eight-footer into the far corner. Both Gray's shots, coming after passes from Murray Oliver, sizzled under Jacques Plante's legs from about 25 feet.

Amazing Claude Provost, who has never scored more than 19 goals in any of his previous six NHL seasons, made the play for Henri Richard to get the first Montreal goal, then got his 14th of the season late in the second period.

ONLY FOUR Canadiens have managed only four goals in their last three games.

Provost regained the league scoring lead, his 25 points putting him one ahead of New York's Andy Bathgate.

Gray also provided some extra entertainment in the second period when he took on Lou Fontinato in a rugged brawl. Both got major penalties, with Gray drawing an extra two minutes for starting it with an elbow jab.

Phone Call to Seattle

Scurrah Invites U.S. President To Celebrations

Mayor Percy Scurrah yesterday issued a personal invitation by phone, asking President Kennedy to visit Victoria during the city's centennial celebrations next year.

Planting To Start 'Village'

Plans which will transform Oak Bay Avenue's shopping area into a pleasant, tree-lined "village" will begin early in the new year with a planting program.

The municipality has teamed up with Oak Bay Board of Trade for the project and will share equally the $1,300 cost of planting trees, shrubs and flowers on both sides of the avenue.

Record Boom In Building

Victoria's construction boom this year has already broken the all-time record set in the 12 months of last year.

The big push which set the new record 45 days before the end of the year came yesterday with the issuing of a $2,614,000 permit for additions to Royal Jubilee Hospital.

Barge Repair Provides Jobs

Yarrows Ltd. has been awarded a $70,000 contract for repair of two chip barges owned by Vancouver Tug Boat Co. The steel-hulled vessels were damaged in a storm in Vancouver harbor two weeks ago. The job will provide 10 days' work for 30 men on each barge.

Drowning 'Accident'

CAMPBELL RIVER—A coroner's jury brought in a verdict of accidental death in the drowning of 21-year-old Gerald C. McMunn of Vancouver, whose body was taken from the water at Kyquoot on Sept. 10.

Donald Bervan of Tulloch Western Fisheries, the last person to see the deceased alive, testified that he talked to McMunn while aboard a scow before the victim left to walk to another scow.

A search was set up when McMunn failed to appear at 5 p.m. the next day and two skindivers located his body in 15 feet of water.

Medical witness Dr. John Graham said the victim's death was due to drowning.

COBBLE HILL—Ratepayers have renewed their fight to get Cobble Hill reclassified as a high school area.

Now delegates from Cobble Hill, Shawanigan Lake, Mill Bay and Malahat have joined together to fight for a plebiscite on the high school issue.

A letter from the combined ratepayers' groups has gone to Provincial Secretary Wesley Black, asking for action.

They hope for a better result this time.

Dental Fee Studied

NANAIMO—School trustees are studying a proposal to charge a $5 registration fee for the school board health unit dental service.

Dennis Bullen, health unit dentist, requested that the fee be charged.

Bullen said many children are on the dental plan mainly because it is free, and these should be weeded out.

Wave of Earthquakes To Be Set Off Soon

A series of artificial earthquakes will be triggered in offshore waters next Wednesday, Thursday and Friday so scientists from the Dominion Astrophysical Observatory here can study the geological structure of Vancouver Island. Seismographs will be located at Little Saanich Mountain, Alberni, Campbell River, Kelsey Bay and aboard the naval auxiliary vessel Laymore.

Aims At Star

Easy does it, as last major section of the new 48-inch telescope at Dominion Astrophysical Observatory in Saanich is swung into place yesterday. Main tube, being guided carefully through shutter in dome, holds telescope mirrors and is "aimed" at the star under study. It is housed in small dome.

NO TROUBLE

"Even so, we don't anticipate any difficulty in making the necessary arrangements," he added.

Property owners participating in the scheme will be assessed $52 per front foot.

SMALLER SCALE

A similar idea—but on a smaller scale—is already being developed on Fort Street, where the sidewalk will be covered from Broad to Government.

After Black Ball Takeover

Prospect of New Orders Buoys Shipyard Hopes

New ferry orders from the B.C. government could save the jobs of hundreds of Greater Victoria shipyard workers this winter.

This emerged yesterday following Premier Bennett's confirmation of the government's willingness to buy Black Ball Ferries.

The premier said in Seattle the government intends to build new ships "right away" to increase the Horseshoe Bay-Nanaimo service to hourly frequency.

Harold Husband, president of Victoria Machinery Depot, said yesterday that fast action on the part of the government could bring additional work to VMD "just when we need it most."

Layoffs among 250 men employed on the third B.C. government ferry nearing completion at VMD are expected to begin in January and continue until the ship is delivered in February. The yard has no major shipbuilding work in prospect until late spring.

Suited for Nanaimo

Providing the same basic design as the My City of Victoria is used, however, fabrication of steel hull sections for a new ferry could be in full swing by the end of February, Mr. Husband said.

The VMD president said the vessels now used on the Swartz Bay-Tsawwassen service would be "admirably suited" to the Nanaimo route.

John Wallace, general manager of Yarrows Ltd., agreed no changes appeared necessary in the basic government ferry design to meet docking or other needs on the new service.

"It certainly seems reasonable that the new ships should be duplicates of the ones the government now has in operation," said Mr. Wallace.

Familiar Designs

VMD and Burrard Dry Dock in Vancouver have each built two ferries for the government. If bids are called on a similar vessel the yards' familiarity with the design would greatly reduce the time necessary for preparing bids, spokesmen said.

Delivery of steel could take between six and eight weeks after the contract is awarded. VMD has some steel on hand, officials said, and left service going on the Nanaimo run.

Completion time of 12 months for the first government ferry, My Sidney was reduced to 10 months for the City of Victoria. This could be matched by VMD, making it possible for a new ferry to be delivered during November, 1962.

Premier Bennett said in Seattle that the government was anxious to get an hourly service going on the Nanaimo run.

Lot of Extra Jobs

He added: "We'll have to build new ships and build them right away."

"I don't want to say how many, but it will mean a lot of new work for our shipyards and a lot of extra jobs to operate the ferries."

Mr. Bennett termed the purchase of Black Ball Ferries, which still must receive cabinet approval, a major undertaking which would boost the economy of B.C. and open up central Vancouver Island.

The government has already announced that it will build a new ferry for its Gulf Islands service and is considering a fifth vessel for its Swartz Bay-Tsawwassen run.

Contracts totalling $17,500,000 are expected to be awarded to West Coast shipyards by the department of transport in the next few months.

Utility Takeovers

Carry On—Strachan

The government was urged yesterday by Opposition leader Robert Strachan to carry on the policy of taking over public utilities.

Lower rates to consumers would result the same as in the B.C. Electric takeover, he said, if the government took over the gas pipeline to Van-

RECALLS STRIKE

Mr. Strachan recalled that the takeover of the Black Ball line when company operations were halted by a strike.

"Now, three years later, we find the Social Credit government accepting our policy of public ownership of utilities as being in the best interests of the public," he said.

CONTRAST

"There is, of course, a striking contrast in the methods adopted here to compensate

the shareholders of Black Ball (the Puget Sound Navigation Company) and those adopted in the B.C. Electric confiscation.

Society Meets

Annual general meeting of the Victoria chapter of the Society of Architectural and Engineering Technologists of British Columbia will be held in the Douglas building on Elliot Street at 8 p.m. Monday.

Busy Bennett Barter With U.S. Officials

Peter Bruton's NOTEBOOK

But even if he succeeds, he still has to sell Ottawa on the idea.

MISSING PERSONS: Reporters who have at one time or another experienced the frustrations of too much red tape and officialdom connected with royal tours of Canada breathed a lot easier when they saw the plans for the arrival of President Kennedy in Seattle.

Their joy was short-lived. The bus they were on, along with 37 local U.S. pressmen, got its orders mixed up and missed the whole parade into the heart of Seattle.

BUS STOP: Newsmen who travelled out to Boeing field for the arrival of President Kennedy yesterday became irritated when the U.S. army bus provided for them was delayed in leaving for about 20 minutes. Finally one exasperated reporter screamed: "Take us to our leader."

SIGN IN PASSING: In the U.S. federal courthouse in Seattle is a large black arrow, pointing down a corridor, and beneath it the words "Secret Service."

What? said the stewardess. "Eat on an empty stomach? Don't be silly. Here, have some champagne."

A Breath for Relic of Reef

Sun Bathes Wreck of Thiepval for Rubber-Suited Adventurers

By CAL SMITH
The Broken Group, a large group of islands jammed into the northern approach of the Alberni Canal, is a navigator's nightmare that has accounted for more than its share of the 800 large ships, and countless numbers of smaller craft, that have met their doom in Vancouver Island waters.

In September, 1930, the Thiepval, a naval vessel attached to the fisheries department, entered the treacherous passage now named after it, and ran aground of a submerged reef. Luckily, all hands were rescued before the metal-hulled ship settled to the bottom.

When Pete Campbell and Al Peterson, two Port Alberni divers, invited me to accompany them to the sunken ship, we set out aboard the Norada with eight other divers and their equipment. Four hours later we entered Thiepval Passage.

Lying on her side, the Thiepval looked like an integral part of the reef. The metal plates of her hull had long since become overgrown with sea-life until she blended almost perfectly with her surroundings when viewed from above.

The deck, lying perpendicular to the bottom, appeared like a steep cliff, from which grew jagged branches of coral-covered iron superstructure. Every railing, like most exposed parts of the ship, was coated with a living crust of worm-coral, sea anemones and seaweed.

Wolf seals were abundant. As usual, rock fish and ling cod were well represented among the inhabitants of the wreck; as were the most unusual rattfish.

The eerie feelings that usually accompany me aboard sunken ships were strangely absent in the clear water of the reef. Even the task of entering the deep blackness of a canyonway held little dread; with the sunlight eliminating shadows so effectively.

We found nothing of value aboard the wreck. The compass, binnacle and some of the ship's dishes had been removed by some previous diver, but the safe was thought to be still aboard. George Geddes and Bob Porter, with a powerful underwater light, spent much of their diving time searching for it, but found nothing more than a few porthole glasses in the spare parts locker.

Mounted on the foredeck we found a three-inch cannon, completely encrusted with sea life except for the forward 10 inches of the barrel which was bare and rusty. Later, aboard the Norada, Doug Elean and George Kerzinger claimed to have found some ammunition for it, but wisely decided against bringing it up.

With so many divers spread throughout the vessel, air bubbles streamed mysteriously through the bed of seaweed that grew from the steel hull; and the Thiepval had her first breath of air in 31 years.

Motels Fight For Life

DUNCAN — The motel and resort business is the "most mortal industry" in British Columbia—the annual mortality rate is 22 per cent, operators were told at a recent meeting here.

With the increasing demand from the travelling public for the most modern conveniences, and the steady establishment of fancy new auto courts, competition becomes more serious every year.

HOME ATMOSPHERE
Dennis Mason Hurley, chairman of the Duncan and Cowichan Chamber of Commerce tourism committee, explained to proprietors that in two cases known to him people succeeded in transforming old-type houses with a special home-like atmosphere which is preferred by many travellers to expensive ultra-modern motels.

LOWER RATES
As another alternative to being forced to give up business he described lowering the rates as an effective measure.

Alberni Ask Conservation Projects

PORT ALBERNI — The provincial recreation and conservation department will be urged to get three projects underway to help unemployment and improve parks in this area.

Alberni Valley winter works committee authorized a letter to Recreation Minister Earle Westwood asking that camps be established in Spruce Lake Park, debris be cleared from Cathedral Grove in MacMillan Park and improvements be made to the beach at the east end of Cameron Lake.

A letter from the minister informed the committee that while it is hoped to develop China Creek delta as a park, this property is presently owned by MacMillan, Bloedel & Powell River Ltd.

SMALL CONSTRUCTION
It was also stated that a "small construction crew" will be working at Long Beach during the winter season.

Disappointment was expressed that Alberni city had not lined up any projects for the winter employment incentive program.

A member of the committee stated, "I cannot conceive of any municipality not taking advantage of the grants. I feel it is not fair to the taxpayers."

FIRE PROJECT
Secretary Dave Sargent reported that Cherry Creek improvement district trustees are contemplating a fire protection project and Port Alberni city has two winter works projects which will employ a total of 23 men for six months. A ditching project and culverts at Tofino will employ six men for three months; at Zebulon projects include completion of a municipal hall and a water project to employ a total of 10 men for six months, as well as parks and playground improvements which will mean two weeks' work for two men.

Gaglardi's Suggestion 'Endangers' Patrols

NANAIMO—Highways Minister Gaglardi has given his answer to worried parents near Mount Benson School whose children endanger their lives by crossing a 60-mile-an-hour highway. He suggested using a school patrol.

But a school spokesman says the highway is too dangerous for a school patrol.

He said the patrol would have to stand at the side of the highway, running a risk from passing cars.

Lack Standards

Indians Prone To Accidents

VANCOUVER (CP) — Out-of-proportion native Indian accident rates are related to below-average educational, economic and social standards, a Nanaimo zone Indian Health Services officer said yesterday.

Dr. Nicholas Schmitt told the British Columbia Safety Conference the Indian accident rate is related to a much lesser degree, if at all, to racial factors.

The Indians, who represent two per cent of the province's population, accounted for almost 10 per cent of accident fatalities in B.C. during the last three years, he said.

Dr. Schmitt said most of the deaths occur in the young and healthy.

"In 1959 and 1960, in the age group one to 40 years, accidents caused more deaths in Indians than all other causes combined."

He described Indians as an accident-prone ethnic group. A regional committee had

School 'Luxury' Buses Upset Nanaimo Dealers

NANAIMO—Nanaimo automobile dealers have charged that city school buses are "luxury" vehicles.

A three-man delegation from the dealers told school trustees they did not follow accepted rules of tendering for the buses.

Engineer James Thorpe refuted the statements. He said "I would rather err in overspending than in underspending; it is better to spend money than to spend lives."

Automobile dealers' spokesman Max Blunt said the new buses are luxury vehicles, and said the added features on them are not needed on buses which travel only 12,000 miles a year on good roads.

He claimed the school trustees bought foreign buses, when Canadian buses are actually cheaper. The alleged "luxury" apparently consists of air brakes.

Marion Ricker, school board chairman, said the school district needs 67-passenger buses, which are not made in Canada.

Ranch Price Record

WILLIAMS LAKE (CP)—The famed 1,000,000-acre Chilco Ranch in the heart of British Columbia's interior Chilcotin country has been sold for $2,000,000 cash, believed a record price in Canadian ranching transactions.

President John Wade of the Cariboo Land and Cattle Company, owners of the big spread, said yesterday the ranch, its more than 5,000 head of Hereford cattle and other assets, were purchased by John Minor of Abbey, Sask., and William Gilchrist of Maple Creek, Sask.

BENNETT, JFK TALK COLUMBIA IN SECRET

Congo Crime Horrifies UN

BONN (UPI)—NATO forces must have the ability to use nuclear weapons without waiting for an order from the American president, Chancellor Adenauer said last night.

He said the change was necessary "purely for military reasons, not on political or prestige grounds."

'Home Rule' Sought By Would-Be Mayor

Victoria's mayoralty election campaign—static since Monday—broke into a three-cornered free-swinging fight yesterday with the entry of Victoria MLA J. Donald Smith.

At the same time, acting mayor Arthur Dowell announced that he will not be a candidate. Ald. Dowell would have had to retire as an alderman yesterday to enter the mayoralty contest.

PLAN REJECTED
First candidate to announce a platform, Mr. Smith called for "home rule," rejection of the council plan to buy the B.C. Hydro building for a city hall, construction of a new hall and civic precinct in the area around the present city hall, improved bus service for city residents, and construction of a downtown centre for senior citizens.

'A SATELLITE'
"Victoria has been too long under the influence of Oak Bay residents," he said. "Home owners of the city have permitted out-of-town mayors and the elected administration to dominate the policies of our city."

"I think it is time we had home rule for our home owners. Why should Victoria be a satellite of Oak Bay? Why should we consider the favorite sons of the 'Principality of Oak Bay' for the position of mayor of Victoria?"

Mr. Smith pointed out that Mayor Percy Scurren and his two opponents for the mayor-

(From Reuters, UPI, CP)

Horror and indignation swept the United Nations yesterday as swift punitive measures were promised against the "bestial" Congolese mutineers who massacred and hacked the bodies of 13 Italian UN airmen on a mercy mission.

Italy reacted with anger and mourned its loss. The UN reported that Congolese army mutineers shot the Italians, dismembered some of the bodies before a jeering, white-hating crowd and threw them into a river.

The airmen were massacred Saturday after they flew in with a cargo of scout cars for a garrison of 200 Malayan UN troops besieged by the mutinuous central government troops.

Italian sources said parts of the bodies of the murdered men were reported to have been sold on the market at Kindu.

'Must Be Punished'

Premier Cyrille Adoula of the central government in a radio speech Thursday night declared "the guilty must be punished with utmost severity" but made no direct reference to UN plans for punishment.

He called for discipline among Congolese soldiers and expressed disgust at the killings.

The Congo troops came from Stanleyville, capital of Oriental province and stronghold of Antoine Gizenga, estranged

vice-premier of the central government. Western diplomatic sources believed the mutiny at Kindu was a last desperate effort by Gizenga to establish his control in Kivu province.

It appeared that neither Gizenga, Premier Adoula nor President Moise Tshombe of Katanga province could control their own forces. The Congolese soldiers were reported drunk most of the time and rebellious against all authority.

Italian Nation Shocked

In Rome, Italians reacted with horror, sorrow and anger to the news of the massacre. The Vatican joined the mourning nation in expressing shock.

Premier Amintore Fanfani ordered his ambassador in Leopoldville to express Italy's "indignation" to the Congolese government and to demand the punishment of those responsible.

The order came after both houses of Parliament stood in silence to honor the airmen who, Fanfani said, were "massacred with bestiality while carrying out their humanitarian duty."

But the Communist-line Paese Sera, in its dispatch, said the slayings were carried out "by error" since the Congolese soldiers mistook the Italians for Belgians.

In New York, Acting Secretary General Thant pledged that the UN would take all possible measures to punish the mutinous troops. Conor Cruise O'Brien, top UN official in Katanga province, and Gen. Sean McKeown flew to New York yesterday to report in person on the growing crisis.

Thant denounced the slayings as an outrageous crime. His demands for swift retribution came in advance of another Security Council meeting on the critical situation in the Congo.

Curb on Inferior Babies Urged

VANCOUVER (CP)—A Victoria heart specialist said Thursday that in some cases hopelessly ill persons should be allowed to die, and there should be studies aimed at bringing more healthy children into the world.

Dr. Peter Banks, medical chief at St. Joseph's Hospital, said in an interview some doctors question the practice of going to extremes to prolong the life of a patient who cannot recover and who is in constant pain.

He also suggested research into genetics to see if it would be possible to determine which prospective parents would give birth to healthy, intelligent children.

Healthy and intelligent parents would receive a reward on the birth of a child. Unhealthy parents would receive no reward.

Genetics is the study of inheritance of one's characteristics.

Dr. Banks was expanding on a speech he made earlier to the joint annual meeting here of the National Heart Foundation and the Canadian Heart Association. (See Story on Page 2.)

In the speech, he spoke against national health plans as now envisioned, and against the philosophy of leaving patients to carry the load of all medical expenses.

He also mentioned the "intelligent acceptance of death as the end of life."

He said that correct philosophies say that "Thou shalt not kill or take life." But he said there comes a time, particularly in some cases involving arteries, when "a man has no brain."

"He is just a human preparation in pain—most of him is dead."

He said the arteries of the brain have burst, wrecking the brain, and it is obvious the man is going to die.

What, he asked, is the use of going to extreme measures to prolong life?

He said society is slowly strangling itself because babies are capable of inheriting their parents' illnesses. These children would produce children who would carry on the illness, increasing the proportion of the population suffering from it.

This applied to the children of some diabetics and some sufferers of mental illness.

"Are we as a race prepared to accept that in time we will all have a diabetic trace in our bloodstream?" he asked. "I don't think so."

Research might find a way of stopping the passing of illness on to children. Or it might find a way of saying which prospective parents would pass on their illness.

He envisioned a time some hundreds of years hence when a national disaster would take a fantastic toll of life because it had resulted in half the population being deprived of medication needed to stay alive.

Dr. Banks also said there is a four-per-cent increase in the cost of arterial disease treatment yearly and that in the next 10 years there will be a cost explosion.

Premier Wins Ovation

By PETER BRUTON
Colonist Staff Reporter

SEATTLE—Premier Bennett and U.S. President John Kennedy in a secret meeting here last night got down to hard cases on the stalled Columbia River development plan.

The talk was an astonishing reversal of a policy statement 24 hours earlier in which the premier said he would not talk Columbia to Kennedy because it would be a case of a provincial representative dealing in an international affair.

The secret meeting is reported to have lasted about a quarter of an hour in the president's private suite in the Olympic Hotel.

WOULDN'T CONFIRM
Later in the evening Premier Bennett would neither confirm nor deny that the meeting took place.

The talk between British Columbia's acknowledged master of political intrigue and the young U.S. president came after Premier Bennett got the "red carpet" treatment at a $100-a-plate testimonial dinner in honor of veteran Washington Senator Warren Magnuson.

Speculation that a top-level power meeting might take place later in the evening began when reporters realized the B.C. premier had been seated with President Kennedy, Senator Magnuson and high Democratic party officials at the 20-seat head table.

STANDING OVATION
The premier at one point got a standing ovation from President Kennedy and the rest after Senator Mike Mansfield, U.S. Senate majority leader, praised him for doing Magnuson a great honor by attending the dinner.

A Canada-U.S. treaty for Columbia development was worked out by Ottawa and Washington months ago but has been stalled for lack of ratification by B.C.

SELL POWER BACK
Premier Bennett wants to sell the bloc of power attributable to B.C. under terms of the treaty in the U.S. at a price of five mills per kilowatt hour.

Ottawa so far has adhered to its long-standing policy of forbidding power export, and the U.S. has not agreed to the five-mill price.

The premier has said the sale of the U.S.-generated power belonging to B.C. does not constitute export and has pointed out that the price of five mills is a reasonable one in view of the fact that development of the Columbia in B.C. guarantees the U.S. a like amount of power at little or no cost because of the controlled flow to existing generators.

WOODED BY REDS

The statement of determination to prevent certain countries from adopting neutrality in his prepared text appeared to be a reference to nations of Southeast Asia and Latin America which have been pressured and wooed recently by the Communist bloc.

His remark about preventing other nations from abandoning their present neutrality seemed to come to have been possible reference to areas of Scandinavia, Afghanistan and possibly Iran.

President Kennedy in Harvard robes warns of long fight ahead for peace, at University of Washington yesterday.

Hostile Neutrals Get Warning

SEATTLE, Wash. (UPI)—President Kennedy in a sombre appraisal of East-West differences last night warned "hostile" neutrals of the world that the United States intended to exercise its responsibilities of power in a new test of "national maturity."

"We must face up to the chance of war if we are to maintain the peace," Kennedy said.

PASSAGE DROPPED

In actual delivery, however, this passage was dropped and he spoke of neutral nations genuinely friendly with the United States as compared with other so-called neutral countries which in actuality are "openly hostile" to the Western powers.

EXTREMISTS HIT

The chief executive spoke to an academic ceremonial marking the 100th anniversary of the University of Washington.

Kennedy used the speech, first of a western tour, to mount a new attack on U.S. extremists who view current tensions with the Soviet Union as leading inevitably to all-or-nothing conclusions—"appeasement or war, suicide or surrender."

The chief executive said such extremists did a major disservice to the country. Americans instead of being fus-
